London Times Says Viet Agreement Near

LONDON (UPI)—The Times of London, in an unsourced story, said today there is "now reason to believe" that the United States and North Vietnam have reached broad agreement on ending the Vietnam war.

In Paris, spokesmen for both the U.S. and North Vietnamese talks delegations were not available for comment on the times story. There also was no immediate comment from U.S. officials in Washington.

The Times, one of the most respected newspapers in the world, said:

"There is now reason to believe that a broad agreement on Vietnam has already been reached between Mr. Henry Kissinger (President Nixon's National Security advisor) and North Vietnamese representatives during their recent meetings in Moscow and Paris."

The Times said the details of the reported agreement will not be completed "or at least not announced" until after the Nov. 7 U.S. presidential election.

The newspaper, which gave no source for its report, said North Vietnam "will be glad to accept" a coalition government to rule South Vietnam. The government would include various political groups, including Communists but would "not be dominated or directed by them (Communists)."

The newspaper said North Vietnam is "confident that this initial stage would lead to an ultimate Communist takeover."

The Times suggested that an announcement of the purported agreement is being postponed because "any agreement must mean the end" of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu's government.

If an announcement is made now, some Americans who have supported President Nixon throughout the Vietnam peace negotiations might switch their votes to Sen. George McGovern, the Times said.

The Associated Press, meanwhile, reported President Nixon called the secret Vietnam negotiations "in a sensitive state" and he will not forecast whether or when there will be a peace agreement.

Major fighting flares within 17 miles of Saigon and B52 bombers in heavy raids around Viet capital. Story on page 20.

"I cannot predict and will not predict that they (the peace talks) will or will not succeed," Nixon said Thursday when asked about prospects for a settlement before election day, Nov. 7.

"I cannot and will not predict when they will succeed."

Nixon's news-conference remarks, combined with reports from Paris and Saigon, gave little indication of any current breakthrough in the lengthening behind-the-scenes discussions on ending the Indochina war.

North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy, who met with presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger last week, said in Paris that the two sides still "are far apart on military and political questions."

From Saigon, following a meeting between President Nguyen Van Thieu and U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, it was reported that there had been no agreement thus far to any of the communist proposals.

In saying "the negotiations are in a sensitive stage," Nixon used language similar to that employed by the White House in mid-August after an earlier Kissinger trip.

Nixon seemed to be aiming his Vietnam remarks both at Hanoi and at his Democratic challenger, George McGovern, who is slated to spell out his Indochina views in a speech Tuesday.

Nixon outlined these views:

—"Under no circumstances will the timing of a settlement . . . be affected by the fact that there's going to be an election Nov. 7."

—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, in arriving at the 1968 bomb-halt deal with North Vietnam just before election day, "made a very, very great mistake in stopping the bombing without adequate agreements from the other side . . . We are not going to make that mistake now."

—Hanoi might be holding off on a peace settlement until after the forthcoming U.S. election in hopes of getting better terms should McGovern win.

—The current U. S. bombing and mining of North Vietnam was essential to avoid potential disaster in South Vietnam following the enemy's spring offensive. "The back of the enemy offensive has been broken," he said. "This could not have been accomplished without the bombing and mining."

—"The mining and the bombing will continue, of course, until we get some agreements on the negotiating front."

Social Security In; Welfare Reform Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — A momentous $18.5-billion Social Security-welfare bill has emerged from the Senate carrying dozens of new benefits and higher taxes. But it stalls reform of the welfare-families program indefinitely.

Capping a 17-hour session in which 40 separate amendments were considered, the Senate passed the bill 68 to 5 early today.

The 989-page bill would:

—Provide or increase Social Security benefits for widows; chronically ill old persons who need maintenance drugs; persons who want to retire at age 60; others who want to work beyond age 65; all male retirees who now get lower benefits than women with the same earnings records; disabled persons; elderly men and women who need glasses, hearing aids and dentures, and other groups.

—Substantially increase benefits and set a national income standard for aged, blind or disabled persons receiving welfare.

Continue the program of Aid to Families with Dependent Children while three reform plans are tested.

—Aim to hold down the steadily rising costs of the two big government health programs: Medicare for the elderly and Medicaid for the poor.

On the other hand, the 90 million persons whose paychecks are tapped to finance Social Security would pay more into the program, as would their employers.

A worker now pays a maximum of $486 a year into the fund; the figure would go to $648 in 1973.

A large portion of the tax increase is due to a 20-per-cent hike in Social Security benefits approved by Congress last June. The fatter checks became effective this week.

Senate passage sent the bill, with its landmark changes in Social Security and welfare laws, to conference with the House, which last year passed a smaller, $8.2-billion version.

A conference on the measure is expected to be held next week, and sponsors say they are sure a compromise version can be worked out and sent to President Nixon before the 1972 session ends. That probably will be Oct. 14.

House rejects request from President Nixon to authorize use of highway trust fund money to purchase buses and build rapid rail systems. Story on page 3.

It did this by voting for a test of three rival plans to deal with the problems, a test which could take up to eight years.

The three are Nixon's family-assistance plan with its $2,400 guaranteed income for a family of four plus aid for the working poor; a more-liberal version of that plan proposed by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., and a tough "Workfare" plan devised by the Finance Committee which would take many of the parents off welfare and force them to work for a federal agency.

The bill provides $400 million a year for the tests.

The House included in the bill the President's family-assistance proposal.

However, it was understood that Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who will head the House conferees, will agree to the test.

The major Social Security provisions in the bill would:

—Permit men and women to retire at age 60 with reduced benefits and for widows to get payments at 55. The present minimum retirement age is 62; widows can receive checks at 60.

—Provide a $200-a-month minimum payment for an individual covered by the Social Security system 30 years. This would be reduced $10 for each year under 30 down to the regular $84.50 minimum.

—Give a substantial increase to 3.4 million widows who would receive 100 per cent of what their husbands would have been entitled to, instead of 82½ per cent as at present.

—Increase payments for those who work beyond 65 by 1 per cent for each year between 65 and 72.

—Permit a beneficiary who works after retirement to earn $3,000 a year with no loss of payments. Above $3,000, there would be a $1 loss of benefits for each $2 of earnings. Under present law, the ceiling is $1,600 without penalty.

—Reduce from six to four months the period a disabled person must wait before he can receive Social Security disability payments.

—Require issuance of Social Security numbers to each child when he enters school.

—Guarantee that the 20-per-cent Social Security increase which just took effect would not result in a cut in old-age-assistance payments, loss of Medicaid benefits, an increase in public housing rents, or loss of food stamps or commodities.

—Eliminate a disadvantage which now gives men a lower Social Security retirement payment than women even though they have identical earnings records.

The bill would provide a new federally administered and federally financed program of increased aid for most persons on the aged, blind and disabled welfare programs.

Missing in Action Bracelets at City Hall

Vietnam Prisoner of War-Missing in Action bracelets are presented to Mayor Francis R. Koenig and his secretary, Mrs. June Diamond, by Gail Bell (R) and Susanne Rowe, of the Americanism Committee of Kingston American Legion Post 150. The bracelets are worn, according to Robert L. Post Americanism Chairman, "as a visible display of one's concern and as a means to bring the plight of the POW/MIAs to the attention of others." The name of Lt. Nicolas Brooks of Newburgh, missing in action since Jan. 2, 1970, is inscribed on the bracelets Koenig and Mrs. Diamond are wearing. (Freeman photo by Haines)

School Board KO's Request by KHS Students

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON

Kingston school district students will have to be content to view Board of Education proceedings from the outside—like everyone else.

At its meeting Thursday night, the school board ruled out a student request that they be permitted to sit on the board in an advisory capacity. But the board indicated a willingness to meet with the students whenever necessary to resolve whatever problems might arise.

In other major action Thursday, the Board of Education:

● Extended the contract of Superintendent of Schools Louis A. Salzmann through 1976;

● Announced receipt of a $50,000 state and federal grant for an experimental outdoor education program for handicapped children;

● Announced a $5,000 state grant for a "prototype" drug program;

● And, deferred action, for a second time, on policies governing the distribution of leaflets and literature on school property.

If the more than 20 students who attended Thursday's meeting at the Port Ewen School were disappointed by the board's action, they didn't show it. Richard Gossett, president of the Kingston High School Student Council, told The Freeman, "We aimed for the top; got the middle; but at least that's something. The lines of communication are now open . . . Maybe we can begin to solve some of the problems . . . we won't be brushed aside."

The district's policy on the matter was contained in a statement prepared by H. Peter Hoffman, president of the Student Services Committee, and read by committee member Ward Todd in Hoffman's absence.

Reasons cited for the decision not to allow a student to sit on the board included: "The board feels . . . that if one segment of the public were to be allowed to participate actively in board meetings it could not then refuse participation by other segments of the public;" and " . . . certain subjects discussed at board meetings, such as personnel matters, employee negotiations and individual student problems, are necessarily confidential in nature."

Todd emphasized that the statement did not necessarily reflect his views, but that it was approved by a majority of the Student Services Committee. The statement was then adopted by an 8-0 vote of the school board.

The extension of Salzmann's contract was also passed unanimously. His present three-year contract expires June 30, 1973; it has now been extended to June 30, 1976, at a salary "to be negotiable on a yearly basis." Salzmann's salary this year is $32,500.

Joseph Feraca, chairman of the board's Personnel Committee, who recommended Salzmann's contract extension, said the superintendent is "the best there is." Feraca added, "We're fortunate to have him in our district, and we're glad to get him back for three more years."

The $50,000 grant for establishment of an outdoor education program for handicapped children was announced by special education supervisor Kenneth Hyatt. He said the program began this week with the intital development of curriculum materials and outdoor ideas; and will be put into effect in the Spring of 1973. The program, said Hyatt, will hopefully result in "significant attitudinal changes" among handicapped students. Kingston and Buffalo were the two districts chosen for the experimental program.

The $5,000 "special grant" from New York State will be used to supplement existing drug programs in effect in the district.

In the matter of literature distribution, the school board postponed a decision until exact guidelines can be formulated, although Todd noted, "There will definitely be changes in the policy." In the meantime, the existing policy remains in effect, and the distribution of any literature without the permission of school officials is forbidden.

SAMUELS IN ELLENVILLE—Off-Track Betting chief Howard Samuels (C), was in Ellenville Thursday visiting with Democratic Assembly candidate Maurice Hinchey Jr. (R), in the office of County Legislator Alex J. Nirenberg (D-Dist. 10). Samuels toured Ellenville and attended a coffee hour at the home of Mrs. Harry Gorman, 30 Park Street. (Freeman photo by Haines)

'Conflict of Interest' Charge Leveled by Hinchey Against Bell

By LYNN MULVANEY and HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Maurice D. Hinchey Jr., Democratic-Liberal candidate for State Assembly in the 101st District, has charged his Republican-Conservative opponent (Assemblyman) H. Clark Bell with "conflict of interest" between Bell's activities as a lawmaker and "his involvement with banking, insurance and law."

Hinchey leveled the charges at a press conference today at Democratic headquarters on Wall Street.

Challenging Bell to make public all sources of income other than the $20,000 a year ($15,000 salary and $5,000 expenses), he receives as an Assemblyman, Hinchey said, "Bell is a member of the board of directors of an insurance company. He is intimately involved with at least two banks. He has a private law practice." Hinchey said he would not identify the insurance company or the banks that Bell is allegedly involved in "at this time."

"The fact is," Hinchey declared, "that it is impossible for Bell to represent the best interests of the people of Ulster County at the same time he gives his allegiance to banking, insurance and law interests."

"Did Bell have his constituents or his banking interests in mind when he voted to increase the various minimum service charges that banks are permitted by law to charge their customers?" Hinchey asked.

Hinchey also asked a series of other questions including:

"What are the sources of Bell's outside income?"

"Who are his clients?"

"How much to they pay him for his services?"

"What kind of service does he perform for them?"

"What kind of representation are the people of Ulster County getting for their money when they are being represented by a combination banker-lawyer-insurance executive?"

Hinchey, who had been on a leave of absence from his job in Albany as an administrator in the State Department of Education (the leave of absence will terminate on Election Day), declared that if elected, he would resign his job to become a full time representative.

Hinchey felt he "would have a better chance of defeating Bell" if he "were only running against Bell." Hinchey was referring to the candidacy of Sen. George McGovern, which he says is "hurting his campaign in Ulster County," Hinchey feels McGovern will lose Ulster County and as a result his (Hinchey's) campaign will suffer."

Meanwhile Hinchey's political stock got a boost Thursday from Off-Track Betting chief Howard Samuels who came to Ellenville touting him as "one of the brightest political aspirants in the state."

Samuels also took the occasion to put down President Nixon, and alluding to the Watergate incident said he is "amazed at the total lack of reaction of the public to the immorality of the corruption during the last six months of the Nixon administration."

Referring to allegations that the Democratic Presidential candidate George McGovern is a "radical", Samuels charged that "Nixon is the permissive one.

"Nixon has added six million to the unemployment rolls and three million to the welfare rolls," Samuels said adding "to find a moral precedent for decay we would have to go back to the administration of Warren Harding. To find a precedent for economic conditions we would have to go back to the 1930's."

Charging that Nixon has "no policies concerning where the country should go," Samuels added, "But Nixon certainly has an idea where Nixon should go."

Death on German Train

GOETTINGEN, Germany (UPI)—Police said today an AWOL U.S. soldier apparently shot and killed two U.S. Army sergeants escorting him back to his unit and threw them and a woman from a speeding express train. The bodies of all three were found beside the railroad tracks today, police said.

A spokesman for the U.S. Army European headquarters in Heidelberg confirmed the incident. He said the two sergeants were escorting Sgt. Thomas De Gregorio, 26, of Hialeah, Fla., back to his unit in the Bavarian town of Bamberg from the North German port of Bremerhaven. He said De Gregorio had been posted absent without leave (AWOL) from his unit since Oct. 3.

De Gregorio apparently jumped off the train at Goettingen and escaped, police said. German police today launched a search of the region, using a company of police, soldiers and helicopters.

The train was the Copenhagen-Rome express. The two American sergeants and their prisoner boarded it at Bremerhaven, where De Gregorio was arrested, police said.

The bodies of the two sergeants were found by the track at Edesheim, 18 miles north of Goettingen, about half way on the 300-mile train ride from Bremerhaven to Bamberg.

Police said they found the bodies of the two sergeants close together. Later they found the dead woman a little further down the track.

Police said the woman was a waitress in the train's dining car. They said they believed she had witnessed the shooting of the two sergeants and the killer threw her out of the train.

The engineer of the train told police he saw an American soldier with a pistol in his hand leave the train at Goettingen. The army spokesman said two .45 caliber pistols the escorting sergeants wore were missing and presumably De Gregorio had them.

Memoriam

The midnight stars are shining
On a lone and silent grave,

In Memoriam

In memory of my dear husband, Conrad Bettenhausen, who passed away six years ago Oct. 6, 1966.

Six lonely years have passed away,
Since my great sorrow fell,
The shock that I received that day,
I still remember so well.
Your end was so sudden,
It made me cry,
But the saddest part of all,
We never said goodbye.
In this lonesome time without you,
And sad in every way,
Life is not the same for me,
Since God took you away.

The city clerk's office told The Freeman today that there has been some confusion on just where those persons of Ward 7-District-2 vote and register since the move to the new city hall in Broadway East. There will be no voting or registering taking place in the new city hall on Meadow Street, the clerk's office said. Tuesday is the last day for registration in Ulster County.

House Rejects Nixon Request for Highway Plan Money

WASHINGTON UPI — The House, splitting along urban-rural lines, rejected Thursday a request from President Nixon to authorize use of highway trust fund money to purchase buses and build rapid rail systems for urban areas.

By a 200 to 168 margin, the House refused to even vote on a proposal to permit local officials in urban areas to use up to $700 million in trust funds for rapid transit systems, highways or both.

The vote was a setback to Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe who personally buttonholed members before the balloting in an effort to swing enough votes for the issue that has been his foremost concern in recent months.

Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, third-ranked Republican who led GOP support for the plan, admitted "very grave pessimism at this point."

The House, however, passed a multi-billion dollar highway construction bill on a 263 to 30 vote. The bill now goes to a House-Senate conference committee. There, the $800 million mass transit provision in the Senate-passed measure is almost certain to be scrapped.

The bill authorizes $20 billion in trust fund money to complete the interstate highway system by 1979, including $8 billion in new authorizations to help meet anticipated cost increases.

It provides another $4.4 billion from trust funds to build primary and secondary roads in rural and urban areas.

The key vote came on a parliamentary procedure to allow the House to vote on the mass transit amendment. After it lost, proponents tried to limit the amendment to federal aid for purchase of buses but it was ruled out of order.

Congressmen from rural areas opposed the amendment, saying it would lead to a raid on the trust fund for purposes other than building highways.

GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, who strongly opposed the mass transit provision, said legislation approved earlier this year provided over $1 billion for urban mass transit projects and taxpayers would resent use of the trust fund for anything other than highway purposes.

During long debate that extended well into the night, critics said a provision in the moratorium on removing directional signs from roadsides would slow removal of billboards.

Rep. Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, lost an effort to remove the provision and protested the bill "might as well be called the de-control of Billboards Act."

Beer Barrel Explodes in Belfast, One Person Killed, 30 Injured

BELFAST (UPI)—A bomb-laden beer barrel exploded without warning in a Belfast pub Thursday night, killing one person and injuring 30.

The army said five of the injured were in serious condition. The 50-pound bomb exploded in a barrel in the entrance to a pub on Bruce Street, a mixed area near the Protestant Sandy Row district, demolishing the pub.

Rescue workers led bleeding customers from the wreckage. The remains of an orange car parked outside littered the street.

The death brought to 599 the number of persons killed in three years of violence in the province.

In the Newtonards Road section of the capital members of the Ulster Defense Association (UDA), a para-military Protestant organization, hurled bricks at two British soldiers, fracturing the skull of one of the troopers.

The soldiers came under attack when their car approached a UDA roadblock in the Protestant area. The vehicle crashed into a telephone booth. The other soldier sustained concussion, the army said.

In Portadown, 23 miles southwest of Belfast, police said a hand grenade tossed into the living room of Catholic Patrick Connelly, 23, killed him as he sat watching television. The blast, which had been a mystery until solved by police forensic experts, also injured Connelly's mother, father and brother Wednesday night.

In Londonderry sniper fire hit a soldier in the stomach, seriously wounding him while he was on patrol near the Catholic Creggan housing development.

In other violence Thursday, a bomb explosion wrecked a Londonderry gas station but caused no injuries.

Jailed Newsman's Wife Backs His Decision

BELLEVILLE, N.J. (AP) — The wife of Peter Bridge, the newspaper reporter jailed for refusing to testify before a grand jury probe, says no one would talk to her husband if he revealed his sources.

Anne Bridge said it would be just as though she were to reveal the secret of a neighbor — "She will never talk to me again."

Mrs. Bridge's husband, Peter, 36, went to jail Wednesday for refusing to reveal new confidences to a grand jury.

"If Peter reveals his sources nobody will talk to him. Or give him a scoop. I sure am proud of him," she said Thursday. "I don't want him to change his mind. He really believes in his case. Im' sure he's right. We'll pull through somehow."

Bridge is the first journalist to go to prison for contempt since the U. S. Supreme Court ruled June 29 that newsmen may not withhold confidential information from grand juries.

Five months ago he wrote an article for his paper, the Evening News of Newark which has since gone out of business, in which he quoted a member of Newark's Housing Authority as saying she was offered a $10,000 bribe to influence her vote for the authority's new executive director.

On July 7, Bridge was found guilty of civil contempt for refusing to answer five of about 80 questions posed by an Essex County grand jury investigating the election.

"He has the key to the jailhouse door," the sentencing judge said before Bridge was led away in handcuffs. "All he has to do is answer five questions."

Bridge may gain his freedom if the grand jury's term is not extended beyond its expiration date of Oct. 30.

"It was kind of hard," recalled Mrs. Bridge, mother of two with a third child due any day. "I cried. The cameras were right at me. I am a cry baby as a rule. But I'm a tough cookie too.

"Peter told me, 'Don't worry about it, honey.'"

Before the sentencing, she said, "we seemed to be alone. Then out of a clear blue sky it seems like everybody has been calling us. There has been lots of encouragement."

Bridge has been without a job since the News went out of business Aug. 31.

"Peter says when he gets out of jail he'll find a job even if he has to drive a truck. But I don't think he'll be happy at that."

Anti-Tuberculosis Vaccine May Be Agent Against Cancer

By AL ROSSITER JR.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leading cancer researcher today reported limited success in using an anti-tuberculosis vaccine to fight cancer in humans and said it was a "promising lead" in a long effort ahead to develop an effective anti-cancer agent.

"We haven't got a cure but we have better hope than we had before," Dr. Edmund Klein, chief of the Department of Dermatology at the Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y., said in an interview.

Klein reported the findings at a meeting of scientists from eight countries called by the National Cancer Institute (NCI) to discuss the use of the bacterial agent BCG immobilizing the body's defenses against cancer.

He said the BCG applied to four patients with malignant moles, four with breast cancer and six with white blood cell tumors produced partial or temporary improvement in six cases. There was no response in five patients.

Greater success was reported in the treatment of skin cancer. Klein said that BCG applied to the skin resulted in complete regression lasting one year in six of eight patients. BCG has been used in tests against skin cancer for several years but Klein's work with other types of human cancer is new. The research was carried out in collaboration with NCI scientists.

"The study suggests that the BCG and other immunologically active agents may be of value in the treatment of some malignant diseases, but so far this cannot be considered as being more than a promising lead," Klein said. "The period of study is too short and the number of patients under study are too few to permit more than a justification for further research."

Klein said it will take "a lot of money, a lot of ingenuity, a lot of patients, a lot of everything," to evaluate the approach of using BCG to stimulate the body's immune system against cancer.

"It is time to give cancer immunotherpy a real chance to show what it might do before the delicate balance of the immune system is disturbed by conventional modes of therapy," Dr. Herbert J. Rapp, chief of the NCI biology branch, said. Cancer is now treated with surgery, radiation or chemicals.

Turner Is Freed In $2,000 Bail

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI)—Flamboyant millionaie promoter Glenn W. Turner successfully appealed his contempt of court conviction Thursday and was ordered freed on $2,000 bond.

A three-judge appeals court ruled that a motion to appeal Turner's conviction was arguable and ordered the bond set.

Turner, freed on bond, sat silently in the spectator section of the court as his attorneys battled the state's efforts to have him jailed for 150 days.

Turner was ordered jailed Wednesday in Clearwater by Circuit Court Judge Wailliam A. Patterson. Turner refused to testify in a contempt hearing which sought to determine whether Turner was connected with demonstrations that brought about a postponement in his state securities fraud trial.

Patterson refused to set bond, but several hours later Appellate Court Judge Joseph McNulty ordered Turner's release on $2,000 bond pending the Thursday hearing.

Assistant State Attorney Richard Mensh argued that the appeal action was 'frivolous" and that the contempt of court conviction came partly because turner refused to come forward and show cause why he should not be held in contempt.

Attorney James Russ argued for the appeal and the bond and said, "We feel nowhere in the law of the land can you hold a man in prison because he remains silent."

The contempt conviction followed demonstrations in Clearwater Wednesday by some 600 supporters of Turner, controversial head of an Orlando-based cosmetics and self-motivation conglomerate. The demonstrations occurred before the start of Turner's trial on violation of state securities laws.

Patterson postponed until Monday the trial of Turner and two associates.

(Turner visiter Ulster County briefly earlier this year. he addressed several thousand of his sales personnel at a regional meeting at the Granit Hotel in Accord. Later, he told The Freeman. "I don't know anything about all the lawsuits. We're for the little man; our people will become great." A short time later, Turner's firm closed its sales offices at the Granit.)

KINGSTON

James T. McCardle, Ulster County Democratic party chairman announces that the Democratic County Committee will be opening their Headquarters in Kingston, this Saturday Oct. 7, at 3 p.m. The headquarters will be located at 605 Broadway.

Present for the opening will be local candidates: Maurice D. Hinchey, Jr., candidate for Assemblyman in the 101st district, Eugene Perry, candidate for County Legislator from the City of Kingston, John M. Burns, candidate for Congressman in the 25th district and B. Sears Hunter, candidate for State Senator in the 40th district.

Saugerties to Proceed With Sewer Details

SAUGERTIES

Announcement that the town will now proceed with the details of its new sewer arrangement with the village topped the agenda of Thursday's meeting of the Saugerties Town Board.

The town recently received a Letter of Intent from the Village of Saugerties that its new sewage treatment plant will accept sewage from the proposed Barclay Heights Sewer District. Attorneys and engineers will now continue attempts to obtain state funding for the project.

In other matters, the town informed Manuel S. Emmanuel Associates, the Planning Board consultant, that its contract will not be renewed after Jan. 1, 1973. The contract between the two parties stipulates that 90-days notice must be given if either party decides not to renew the contract. The town will now meet with the Planning Board and Zoning Board of Appeals to determine if the services of a planning consultant are needed.

Two public hearings are scheduled for next Thursday: the first involves adoption of an open container law that would forbid use of alcoholic beverages on public property; the second involves amendments to the existing dog ordinance to conform more closely with regulations established by the Village of Saugerties. The first meeting will begin at 8 p.m.; the second will follow at 8:30 p.m., at the Town Hall.

A request by the Saugerties chapter of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to purchase a 3-4 acre parcel of town property at the Veterans Memorial Field on Market Street was tabled. The VFW wants to build a new meeting hall on the site.

Trailer permits were granted to Alexander Brandt and Mathew J. Kramer; Leonard Fornito of the Saxton Fire Co. was granted an exempt.

Woman's Condition Is Termed 'Fair'

By CARL GRAHAM

TOWN OF ULSTER

A West Camp woman is in fair condition in Benedictine Hospital with injuries suffered Thursday night in a head-on collision on Route 32.

First Sergeant Donald Policastro of the Ulster County Sheriff's Department reported that Robert D. Mitchell, 32, of the Dew Drop Inn, Eddyville, was southbound on Route 32 at 9 p.m. when he apparently lost control of his car, which skidded 132 feet into the left lane and was in head-on collision with a car driven by David Nagele, 52, of West Camp.

Mrs. Dorrene Nagele, 45, of West Camp, was taken to the hospital reportedly suffering from a dislocated right hip, facial lacerations, and possible internal injuries. Daniel Nagele, 10, of West Camp, and Eriv Van Tassel, 6, of West Camp were treated for minor injuries and released.

Mitchell was ticketed for speed not reasonable and prudent and for failure to keep right.

Three persons were treated and released at Benedictine Hospital after their car left Route 212 in the Town of Saugerties at 5 p.m. Thursday.

Patrolman Clark Johnson of the Saugerties Town Police reported that Emil Goettel, 75, of Route 2, Box 207B, Saugerties, was driving east on Route 212 when he reportedly lost control of his car on a curve at the Fish Creek Road intersection. The car went off the right side of the highway and hit a tree, trapping the occupants inside until they could be freed by police and Saugerties Ambulance Service personnel.

Goettel and two pasengers, Lori Vaeth, 14, and Lynda Vaeth, 12, both of Route 2, Box 209C, Saugerties, were treated for minor injuries and released. Goettel was given a summons for driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent.

Two Kingston residents escaped serious injjury at 8:30 p.m. Thursday when their car, northhbound on Route 213 in the Town of Marbletown, sideswiped a utility pole.

Deputy Joseph Bilotti of the Ulster County Sheriff's Department reported that the driver Robert Johnson, of RD 5, Kingston said that his brakes locked while on a turn, causing the car but did not require and hit the utility pole. A passenger, Dolores Isusi, of RD 4, Kingston, was ejected from the car but did not requrie hospitalization.

Unemployment Down; Jobs Count on Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's unemployment rate edged downward in September from 5.6 to 5.5 per cent while the number of persons with jobs continued the steady rise that began more than a year ago.

The new employment report, made public today by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, said that after adjustment for seasonal factors, the number of persons with jobs increased 250,000 in September to an all-time high of 82.2 million. That was nearly 3.8 million more than in June, 1971.

The actual number of employed persons declined about 1.5 million in September as students quit summer jobs to return to classrooms, but this was less than normal for September so that employment rose on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The bureau said the number of unemployed workers totaled 4.7 million for September, down about 200,000 from August. That was about normal, and the bureau described the over-all jobless rate as vitually unchanged for the fourth consecutive month.

The jobless rate for Vietnam War-era veterans dropped from 7.7 per cent to 6.6 per cent, marking the first time in nearly two years that it was below 7 per cent. But jobless rates for most categories of workers showed little change in September.

Labor Charges Will Be Filed Against Sheriff Martin

KINGSTON

John Ray Mayone, president of the Ulster County unit of the Civil Service Employees Association (CSEA) told the Freeman today that unfair labor practices charges will be filed against Sheriff William B. Martin because of alleged interference in union activities.

Mayone's statement followed an alleged altercation Thursday between Martin and Daniel Jenks, a professional bargaining agent for the CSEA in Albany. Jenks contends that Martin physically threw him out of the sheriff's office after he tried to meet with the deputies; Martin said today that Jenks became "abusive" and that he "escorted him out the door."

Mayone said today that the CSEA is the recognized bargaining agent for all Ulster County employes, but that Martin wants his men to be represented by a different union.

Today, Martin told The Freeman he felt his men would rather be represented by Local 445 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. The Sheriff said he was "all for" union representation for his deputies, and that he doesn't care who the bargaining agent is.

Convention

A local Jewish religious leader, Rabbi Howard Gershon of Congregation Agudas Achim Kingston, will be one of the participants in the 29th annual convention of the alumni of Rabbbi Isaac Elchanan Theological Seminary. The Religious Quest of the 70s will be the theme of the meeting to be held Oct. 9 through 11 at the Pine View Hotel, Fallsburg. The seminary is an affiliate of Yeshiva University. Brooklyn spiritual leader, Rabbi Benjamin Morgenstein will be honored. Rabbi Walter Wurzburger of Queens will chair the conference.

Price Correction

A Miron Home Center Advertisement on page 27 of the Thursday edition of The Freeman listed a sale on lawn storage sheds on a 14'6" x 10'7" x 7'3" size shed is $169, not $99, while the correct price of a 10'2" x 107' x 69" shed is $99, not $169.

Continuous compounding— higher annual yields on your savings.

Heritage Savings Bank compounds interest continuously on all savings accounts. This method, made possible by federal regulations, allows depositors more earnings per year, if interest is left to accumulate in the account.

The rates are the same and the highest allowed by law. The change is the continuous compounding of interest every second of every day of the year. At Heritage Savings Bank, your effective annual yield is now greater than ever before.

6.27% effective annual yield on 6% a year Certificates of Deposit (2 to 5 years—minimum deposit of $1000)
5.20% effective annual yield on 5% Regular Savings Accounts and Day of Deposit to Day of Withdrawal Accounts

Other term accounts at Heritage Savings Bank also yield higher annual growth through continuous compounding: 6% on 5-3/4% a year certificates of deposit and 5.46% on 5-1/4% a year certificates of deposit. All term accounts are guaranteed, with interest paid quarterly, on minimum deposits of $1000.

If you want to know more about continuous compounding call or stop in at one of our offices. We'll be happy to show you how Heritage Savings Bank continues providing for your future.

Levitt Favors Environmental Bond

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (UPI)—State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a frequent critic of the state's spending policies, has come out in favor of this year's $1.15 billion environmental protection bond.

Levitt, in a speech Thursday night to city and village fiscal officers attending an annual training school, called the proposal "an essential part of our program for a better state and a better America."

At the same time, the Democratic fiscal specialist said that success of the program would depend in large measure upon the state receiving its proper share of the total cost from the federal government.

Levitt noted that the $1 billion Pure Waters bond approved in 1965 had been used up and that less than one-third of the projects had been completed. He said the failure to complete the cleanup of the state's waters was largely due to inflation and an increased number of projects and the federal government's failure to provide adequate funds.

Even if the voters approved the bond issue, Levitt said, it would provide only $650 million towards the state's share of the projects which now have a price tag of about $4.4 billion, meaning that the bonds would provide less than half of the 30 per cent state share.

Thus, he said, it was important that federal funds be made available if the water pollution abatement program was to continue.

Bids Opened on Sewer Project

KINGSTON

Bids on a storm sewer project to service the county complex at Golden Hill were opened recently by the Kingston Board of Public Works, with the apparent low bid coming in at $28,600.

Gregory Brothers of Kingston was the apparent low bidder for the storm drain work.

The drainage work will begin at the county complex at Golden Hill and run down Glen Street to the vicinity of 112 Glen Street where a culvert will be constructed to divert the storm water and water from an open stream across the street. From there it will run down Glen Street and cross over again to the Kingston Water Department pump station. From there the drainage will be channeled down an existing stream bed to Marius Street and Greenkill Avenue into the Washington Avenue tunnel.

The county is expected to pick up half the cost of the project, according to Woodrow Diehl, administrative assistant with BPW.

Diehl said the bid award will be finalized within a month and that it is hoped work will begin in November on the project.

Approximately 380 lineal feet of 36-inch pipe and 130 lineal feet of 42-inch pipe is included in the cost of the work. Approximately 500 feet of guide rail will also be constructed.

Other bidders and their bids were: Kingston Equipment Rental, $36,149.90; William Van Kleeck Sons, New Paltz, $37,795; and Anthony Costanzi Corp. of Poughkeepsie, $38,890.

Newburgh City Conflict ...Security Tightens

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (UPI)—Police kept a tight watch on a four-square block area of the inner city today following a second eruption of rock throwing in two days.

Authorities in this Hudson Valley city sealed off the area Thursday night after several cars were stoned. There were no arrests and no injuries reported during the disturbance by about 50 youths, police said.

Residents of the area were allowed to come and go but persons without reasons for being in the area were discouraged from attempting to drive through the section around Liberty and South streets.

Wednesday night, 13 persons were injured and four were arrested after about 75 persons went on a rock throwing spree in the predominately black neighborhood. The disturbance followed an arrest on a disorderly conduct charge of a man in the area following a traffic accident.

Harvey Burger, president of the local NAACP chapter, said his group was considering charges of brutality against the police following Wednesday's disturbance.

New Economic Power

In economic potential now and political potential in the future, the burying of the hatchet between China and Japan is possibly the beginning of the fourth great world power.

Economically, Japan is already top dog in Asia and in many parts of the world; and the opening of diplomatic relations with the nation with a third of the world's population opens unlimited opportunity for expansion of her economy.

Politically, Japan could be an eastern shield for China, with her archipelago spanning both eastern Russia and northern China; and even the threat of a Sino-Japan rapproachement secured from the Soviet Union a hint that she might discuss the return of the island she took from Japan as World War II booty.

Premier Kakueki Tanaka plans to visit Moscow next, when this theft of long-time Japanese territory is expected to be brought up. His chances of getting it back have been greatly improved by his diplomatic triumph in China, which enables him to play off the Communist giants against each other.

What Tanaka wants from the Soviet is access to the vast raw materials of Siberia for her mills and factories, for products which will be available for trade with both China and the Soviet. He has technical intelligence to give the Soviet in return.

The great economic powers then will become the United States, the Soviet Union, Western Europe of the Common Market, and Japan and China.

The Old GP

The national ratio is 700 persons per doctor. But there are only 32,000 family physicians, the new name for the old-fashioned general practitioner. That means there is only one family physician for 7,000 persons, 10 times the national ratio.

The rest of the medical practitioners are specialists, of whom internists do a certain amount of general practice, but even they see patients only by appointment, and they are usually booked weeks ahead.

These differences were brought out by some 8,000 family physicians, about one-fourth of the membership of the American Academy of Family Physicians, who met in New York last week to brush up on the newest things in medicine, take a break from their gruelling routine, and swap experiences with their fellows.

They are a dedicated lot. Most of them still make house calls. They deliver babies, mend broken bones, and are enthusiastically covering their practice by car or small plane.

Their approach to family counseling has changed from merely "fatherly" to increasingly psychiatric, primarily because of teenagers' problems that now include narcotics, pregnancies and venereal disease. The older men have cut down their house calls from 24 hours a day to 10 or 12 hours.

As a group, the younger men among them, at least, feel that specialists "are ruining medicine." They charge specialists with doing family practice when they're not qualified to do so or running up the cost of American medicine by "passing the patient around till he has four or five doctor bills." They blame medical schools for steering students to specialties. They want many more times the number of family physicians.

EMANUEL CELLER BUILDING—Representative Emanuel Celler of Brooklyn spent 50 years—25 consecutive terms—in the House of Representatives. Retired after losing a primary this year, the 84-year-old dean of the House was honored by the House Public Works Committee, which appropriately named a U.S. Courthouse and Federal Building to be built in Brooklyn, the Emanuel Celler Federal Building. Celler's hard work earned it.

MIGHTY THROW—A British girl, 17, could vie with that great huntress, Diana, a goddess of the early days of mythology, if results of a javelin throw are any criterion. Anne Goodlaw, in an open field, managed to cause two explosions, a fire and a blackout in an entire housing development when she gave a light toss. Any more, and Jupiter would have come on with thunder.

Leaving Washington in Style

WASHINGTON — Congressman James Aloysius Byrne, the lameduck from Philadelphia, is planning a final fling at the taxpayers' expense this month.

A cable has gone out from the State Department, alerting our diplomatic outposts along the Mediterranean to roll out the red carpet for Byrne and his entourage.

He will be accompanied, says the cable, "by Mrs. Byrne, Miss Virginia Maxwell, niece; Miss Christine Brown, niece; and Lt. Col. Charles L. Moore, USA escort."

With the lieutenant colonel to carry their bags, Byrne and his ladies are scheduled to leave this weekend for Paris. Then they will head south for Nice, Genoa, Athens, Istanbul and other Mediterranean vacation spots. They will also visit Vienna, Berchtesgaden, Munich and Berlin.

As a member of the House Armed Services Committee, Byrne is authorized to make military inspection trips at government expense. However, he was defeated in Philadelphia's Democratic primary and won't be back in Congress next year to make use of the military insight he may gain in such places as Nice, Genoa and Berchtesgaden.

Unbowed in defeat, Byrne is determined to go out in style. He has demanded, for isntance, that he be met at every European stop by high American officials.

The State Department cable, signed Undersecretary of State John Irwin, explains: "Request to being met by high officials is due to (Congressman), himself, who has made it clear that this is his desire . . .Suggest that the highest ranking military member be present on arrivals."

At some stops, Byrne expects to go through the formality of military briefings. But on these occasions, according to the cable, he has requested "suitable separate itinerary and English speaking escort for Mrs.Byrne and party."

That isn't all he wants. "Request government sedan be provided during visit," continues the cable. "Where not available, provide assistance in obtaining train tickets.

"Request the detailed itinerary, including overnight accommodations, and travel arrangements be prepared in coordination with local embassies, missions, consulates . . . The necessary accommodations to be made are for two doubles with bath and one single with bath."

Adds the cable meaningfully: "News media coverage not desired."

Footnote: We made repeated calls both to Byrne's office and home for his comment. He failed to return the calls.

McGovern and ITT

Senator George McGovern has been fed, apparently, by the hand he's biting.

While he has been denouncing ITT's offer to help finance the Republican convention in exchange for favorable settlements of anti-trust suits, he has accepted a $100,000 loan from Alva T. Bonda, chairman of the ITT Consumer Service Corporation.

This happens to be a wholly-owned subsidiary of the great ITT conglomerate that McGovern has been railing against in the presidential campaign. Bonda, however, is currently on leave from ITT to work on private financial matters.

Bonda not only loaned McGovern $100,000 but gave him another $3,000 as an outright contribution. Reached at his office in Cleveland, Bonda said he delivered his campaign offerings to the McGovern organization in July. This was several weeks after the Senate hearings into the GOP-ITT connections.

A spokesman for the Democratic presidential candidate said that Bonda volunteered the money, that no strings were attached and that the contributions were "out in the open."

Sweltering Sick

While sick veterans at the Fort Hamilton Veterans Hospital in Brooklyn sweltered in the summer heat, the Veterans Administration and its contractor managed between them to delay air conditioning for three years past the contract date.

Now the contractor, Blackhawk Heating and Plumbing, is asking for more than twice the $4,888,000 contract award for goofs, changes and other woes it blames on the VA or outside circumstances.

These are the findings of a confidential General Accounting Office report ordered by Rep. John Murphy, (D) N.Y., whose investigators found patients at the hospital this summer sweating through their garments and walking on floors slippery with water from a leaky system.

The GAO says the contract was awarded Blackhawk more than six years ago. The job was supposed to be completed by June 14, 1969. But the VA confirmed to us that the finishing touches are still being put on the work.

The VA has already paid out an extra $2 million for change orders on a Blackhawk claim, but the company is demanding another $5.3 million, according to the GAO report.

Blackhawk vice president Gordon Sutherland told us VA rescheduling change orders, the weather, a strike and other unforeseen factors caused the delays and sent the costs of the cooling system soaring.

Martin F. Nolan Says

On 'Non-Partisanship'

WASHINGTON — As the days dwindled down, it became perfectly clear that Richard Nixon's September, his first month of active campaigning was — rub your eyes, squint and blink — totally nonpolitical.

"It is vital that partisan politics play no role in the work of this commission," he said in a Labor Day address on radio announcing a new Commission on Industrial Peace. In that speech candidate Nixon didn't mention politics at all. He merely said "we are faced this year with the choice between the 'work ethic' that built this nation's character and the new 'welfare ethic' that could cause that American character to weaken."

In San Francisco on Sept. 5, he called his environment proposals "totally nonpartisan, since they are the ones in which people are generally interested, and there is simply no excuse for any further Congressional delay."

After signing a totally nonpartisan proclamation for National Hispanic Heritage Week on Sept. 7 he met that same day with John Connally, John Roosevelt and James Roosevelt, all members of "Democrats for Nixon."

On Sept. 17 the candidate journeyed to the Villa Rosa Rest Home in Mitchelville, Md., where he said to an Italian-American picnic, "Let me just put this in a very nonpolitical sense . . . when you run into an Italian-American community you will find that there is a strong sense of patriotism. Oh, they are proud of their Italian backgrounds, but they are proud first to be Americans all the way."

In Texas, at John Connally's ranch on Sept. 22, the candidate heard his host say, "It doesn't make any difference to him whether you are Democrat or Republican or black or brown or white or yellow, or what you do, what your social status is, or what your bank account shows."

The candidate responded that he had for all of Connally's male guests "some new Presidential cuff links. They are completely nonpartisan. They don't have my name on them and there is no party label. All it has is the seal of the President of the United States. It is in living color."

To a group of Republicans in New York who had paid $1,000 to dine and listen to him, the candidate said his re-election "will be, I would trust, not simply the victory of a man and his running mate, not simply the victory of a party, but in the very deepest and most profound sense I would hope that we can make it a victory for America."

In San Francisco on Sept. 27 he almost startled a similar audience when he said, "I am quite aware of the fact, from long experience, that we have only six weeks before election day." But he sort of apologized to them saying "when I feel it is necessary to stay in Washington to do the job that the people elected me to do, I will be there. When I can, I will be campaigning. That is why I ask you not only to contribute, as you have by attending this luncheon, but to work; do the work perhaps that we won't be able to do by being out on the campaign trail."

The campaign trail — that golden boulevard of Richard Nixon's dreams, his bower of bliss for a quarter-century—is now alien turf. The Republican party, for whose virtues he was the foremost, full-throated troubadour, has vanished in the midst of "a new majority."

"I would like to speak to you in terms of what this election is about," he told a "Young Labor for Nixon" meeting at the White House on Sept. 23, "not in partisan terms of Democrats versus Republicans, or one individual against another . . . in a large sense I would prefer the name, rather than saying 'Democrats for Nixon,' why not 'Democrats for America.' That is what it is really all about."

Where Abnormal is Normal

The people of Hollywood have always fascinated me. They are not nuts — just different. A star or a producer has a right to be neurotic, and any one who isn't is abnormal.

Brynie Foy was a producer of "B" pictures. A "B" is anything that imitates a profitable "A" theme within six weeks. Mr. Foy, who was one of the seven famous Foys, was the only man in history dispossessed from a trailer camp. Too much two-way traffic in girls.

Byrnie made a cheapie about a man who ran a shark pool for profit. It was Edward G. Robinson. His wife fell in love with his assistant. In the last reel, she rushes forward to push her husband in among the starving fish. "Don't" her lover yells, and, in saving the hero, falls into the pool himself and is eaten alive.

The theme was so sweet and simple that Foy did the picture four times. Once it was a lumber camp. A huge tree is falling on the hero. "Don't!" cries the other man, and is killed. It was done on a skyscraper; in a caving gold mine. Jack Warner, top producer, saw the last one.

"Brynie," he said sagely, "you have one hell of an idea here. Why don't you do a couple of more times, using different locales?"

Jackie Gleason was born a great actor. He failed in Hollywood three times. The producer said he was too fat. Gleason trimmed down to 180 pounds. "Now," the producer said, "you're too handsome to be funny."

Almost all of the girls who flocked to Hollywood from Iowa and New Hampshire and Texas to become motion picture stars finally get jobs as carhops. They serve hamburger and ketchup and clamp it on your automobile door. In their off-hours, they seduce impotent casting directors.

Jayne Mansfield was a heartache. I knew her well. She was a Texas schoolteacher who vowed that she'd become a movie star. She couldn't act, but she did everything everyone told her — and I mean everything.

Fox pinned a gold star on her dressing room door and gave her a piano she couldn't play. She had rose mirrors on the headboard of her bed. Then she hurried from Mobile to New Orleans to keep a cheap nightclub date and ran under the tailgate of a truck. She was decapitated. Tragically, she had lost her head years before.

Kim Novak was a pale Slavic kid from Chicago who sat popping bubble gum in the balcony of local movies. She had lots of admirers, among them Maurice Chevalier and Sammy Davis Jr. But they couldn't help her career.

I wrote an article about her in which I opened by explaining that she had an alarm clock in her Malibu Beach home that could be turned off, and would ring again in 15 minutes. My father read it and demanded to know how I knew so much about her morning alarm clock.

"She told me," I said. He arched one evil brow. "Ha!" he said. Miss Novak ran scared in all her pictures. She was easily cowed by directors and producers.

Once, on contract, I wrote a movie about Notre Dame without football. It was done for Jerry Wald, a highspeed butterball. The last scene was, I hoped, touching. The university janitor was dying in the infirmary as the college Glee Club sang "Mother Machree" under his window." It was a cheap piece of business.

Wald read it. "Listen," he said. "I think we can make this more poignant if, in the last scene, as the janitor is dying, we have the Notre Dame Glee Club sing "Mother Machree" under his window." I took my money and fled.

One of the few honest actors I met was James Cagney. When he said he would quit, he quit. In Madrid, we sat dining and I asked hm why. "Why?" he said. "Because I grew tired of pumping myself up every morning for those cameras. There comes a time when you can't pump anymore."

He retired to Martha's Vineyard and hired an alcoholic Portuguese to captain his one-lung boat. Somehow, in dense fog, they always made land and Cagney never doubted that his stupefied captain was the best.

A few weeks ago, old Adolph Zukor, the last of the originals, was wheeled to a garden party. He is 99. Stars, producers and studio heads fawned over the doddering old man.

Jack Benny was in the crowd and he stepped forward, grabbed Zukor's withered hand, and said: "Hello, Mr. Zukor." The old producer recoiled in horror. "Who the hell is this'" he rasped. Someone said, "Jack Benny." "For God's sake," Adolph Zukor said, "is he still around?"

Weird, all of them. But intriguing, talented, and slightly daffy . . .

Autumn Yard Work More a Pleasure Than a Chore

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gardening and yard work are more a pleasure than a chore in autumn. In springtime, by contrast, there's the need to press all projects through to completion. In fall, no such pressure. If you don't get your lawn redone, for example, the snow comes and covers. The lawn soon is dormant, anyway. You can finish it in spring.

The leisurely pace makes fall gardening a delight. This take-it-easy time is the time to experiment with landscaping, to plot creatively about contents of a new flower bed, to consider how to disguise eyesores. It also is a time to plant and transplant, a time to cut back dead wood, and, if you've always wanted to, a time to start a rock garden. It may take the rest of your life to complete it, the rock garden, but at least you can get it started —especially if you've always felt about rock gardens the way some other humans feel about golf or chess or gourmet cooking.

The attraction in gardening and yard work, any season, is that it's almost impossible to be an absolute failure. Persons with thumbs other than the proverbial green stand a good chance of having a degree of success. The only way you can botch planting trees or shrubs, for example, is to plant the things upside down. Almost by instinct a neophyte knows roots go in the ground! So it is with many other aspects of gardening.

Some things to consider on the yard and garden fronts these lazy fall days:

—Leaves. Raking and bagging same for the compost heap. Burning leaves has gone out of fashion in many places —either because it smokes up the already polluted air or because it's against the law. If you don't have a compost heap, donate your bagged leaves to a neighbor who collects same.

—Trees. Fall is a time to plant and transplant many kinds of trees, including evergreens. Excluded: fruit trees. Oh, you probably can plant a fruit tree but authorities recommend these be planted in spring. If you are planting a leaf-bearing tree, experts suggest that you not put it into the ground until its leaves have fallen. That means the tree is dormant —in the first phase of its long winter nap.

—Lawns. Fall is the best time to renovate a lawn —fill the bare spaces with seed after mowing close and scratching the ground with the strong teeth of a metal rake. The U.S. Department of Agriculture's experts on grass say if less than 50 per cent of the lawn consists of desirable grasses, it's best to get rid of all the grass and start a new seedbed from scratch. Whatever the condition of your lawn, good or bad, a feeding is recommended in the autumn. For specifics on the kind of feed for your area, ask someone at a garden center, a nurseryman or the county agricultural agent. Nutrient requirements for soils vary, depending on the local composition of the soil.

—Trees. Chores you may be able to do: corrective pruning of interfering branches and diseased wood; thinning of excessively dense trees to allow more air and light to filter through. Some things you'll need help with —help from a tree expert company: feeding the trees to help their root systems; cabling and bracing weak crotches and limbs. This helps prevent splitting and hazardous falling limbs. The tree experts also recommend at this time: wilt-proofing evergreens and shrubs. This lessens moisture evaporation during the winter. Such evaporation can damage roots and crowns.

—Vegetable Gardens. Yours doesn't need to look like the corn farmer's, with neat rows of corn shocks —made colorful with pumpkins in the aisles. But it needn't look like a disaster area either. Neaten it up a bit, pulling up at least the overgrown weeds which get out of hand when a garden goes to seed. Pull off the green tomatoes and give to someone who knows what to do with them, if you have no use for them. Take down the tomato sticks and other props used for climbing crops. Store in a place that is dry so they'll be in good condition next spring.

—Flower Gardens. Fall's the time to put in tulip and other spring flower bulbs. It takes no magic touch. General rules: get the bulbs in before the first frost; measure planting depth to top of bulb after it is set. One rule on depth: plant at a depth of three times the diameter of the bulb. Sunny or shady place? Hardy bulbs prefer some slight shade, according to seasoned gardeners.

Existing perennials may need some attention. These include peonies and other kinds of plants that come up year after year with no help from you. The peonie root system may need dividing. The same for root systems of other perennials. If you do this, wash the dirt from the root section being separated and transplanted. Some perennial root systems ought to be divided every three to five years. If in doubt, ask an experienced neighboring gardener.

Where annuals are concerned, that is the plants that you start from scratch each garden year, the thing to do in fall is cut down the excess foliage or just pull up and pile the dead plants on top of your flower garden. In the spring wnen you prepare the plot you may want to plow under the dead foliage. —

Experimenting. Take one of the eyesore parts of your yard and think about how it can be improved. Put down crushed gravel? Border that with evergreens? Or redwood fencing? Put a birdbath in the middle? Or a bench. Or a table? Make a pond? The possibilities are as limited as your imagination. Now is the time to stretch it.

If privacy is something you'd like to install at some edge of your lot where there's too much neighborliness, the possibilities, again, are endless. Fall may be the time to start the plan you settle on or it may be time just to draw up the plan. At least, think of ways of solving such a problem. Putting a landscape gardener on the payroll isn't necessary. You can get help at the library, leafing through a range of garden landscape plans. Or, you might want to add to your own library the "Better Homes and Gardens New Garden Book" (Meredith).

Care Increases Tree Life Span

STAMFORD, CONN.

As man has increased his life span over the years with a better diet, proper living conditions and modern medicines, trees, too are able to live longer with proper attentive care, reports Harry C. Haimes, research administrator of The Bartlett Research Laboratories in Charlotte, N.C. "A tree," he said, "is a living organism which grows older but will live to a ripe old age if it is correctly nourished, periodically pruned and kept free of insect and fungus attack."

The gray birch has one of the shortest life spans among shade trees—about 40 years. Some maples are rather short-lived too, but a sugar maple will span a century in its normal lifetime. Some sugar maples have been known to live to be 500 years old. Oaks are even hardier. Records show that some oaks have lived to be 1,000 years of age. Junipers may reach 2,000 years and giant Sequoias often live to be about 4,000 years old.

The Tulip tree reaches full stature and growth at 200 years. Under favorable conditions the Eastern white pine will grow for more than 200 years, the white fir for 300 years, the red pine 350 years and the native white spruce 200 to 300 years.

Under man-made conditions, on lawns and in cities, trees have a difficut time to fulfill their alloted years. "That is why homeowners should give proper care to their trees," Haines said.

Green Thumb Advice...

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

Plant an Air Conditioner: Did you know you can plant an air conditioner and air purifier in your backyard for only $3 or $4? It's available in many different sizes and colors, cost of maintenance is practically nil, and it is guaranteed not to become obsolete. In fact, it will last many times longer than any other air conditioner on the present market. This conditioner has a net cooling capacity on the average equivalent to 10-room-size air conditioners in operation 20 hours a day. It will in no way add to the electrical energy crisis now faced by some parts of the nation.

The "Conditioner" we're talking about is a shade tree, or a fruit tree. Properly planted, this tree can also reduce summer room temperatures as much as 20 degrees. Trees not only eliminate the "attic furnace" but will help cut your fuel bill by as much as 30 per cent by acting as a windbreak. To heat an ordinary house, it takes twice as much fuel at a temperature of 32 degrees and a wind of 12 miles per hour as it does for the same temperature and a wind of three miles per hour.

So now that your gardening chores are winding down, why not give some thought to planting either shade trees or fruit trees in your backyard? Trees act as blotters for soaking up noises (up to 75 per cent) and dust.

Free: If you want an illustrated booklet on landscaping, send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for Landscaping Hints.

Poinsettia: Our recent instructions on poinsettia care confused many readers. In a nutshell, if you want your plant to bloom for the Christmas holidays, it must get darkness from 6 p.m. until 8 a.m. the following day. Keep this up until Thanksgiving. After this, the dark period will have no effect on forcing the plant. Good luck!

Green Thumb Clinic: A reader writes: "I read that lily of the valley plants are poisonous. Is that true? We have a well for drinking purposes, and around the well is a good growth of lily of the valley plants. Will this pollute our water? Something is making the water taste very bad."

Answer: No, the lily of the valley plants will not pollute the water. Something else is causing the water to taste bad, and I would check to see if it's a lack of air, animals and insects falling into the well (happens a lot, especially on wells not too well covered) or some other cause.

Gardeners . . . Await That Heavy Frost

If you are planning to store carrots, beets, and turnips for winter use, don't dig them too early; wait until heavy frosts occur.

A Cornell University vegetable crops specialist advises the gardener to leave these crops in the garden until it gets quite cold.

Prof. Raymond Sheldrake Jr. at the N.Y. State College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, Cornell, says that these crops should be stored in the coolest place around the home for use in mid-winter if you do not have a good cellar for storage.

Cover them with sand to reduce shrinkage and, at the same time, to keep them from getting too warm.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Wood of 50 Mountain View Avenue, Hurley, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rebecca Joanne, to Stephen E. Strader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Strader of 27 Arbor Drive, Glens Falls.

Miss Wood is a 1971 graduate of Kingston High School and is presently studying nursing at Ulster County Community College. Her finance is a 1972 graduate, cum laude, of Union College where he was a member of Theta Delta Chi, a social fraternity. He is employed by the New York State Department of Health.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Torrisi - Naccarato Nuptials Announced

Regina Marcedes Torrisi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Torrisi of 95 East Chester Street, Kingston, exchanged nuptial vows with Kevin John Naccarato, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Naccarato of 34 Crane Street, Kingston, on Saturday, Sept. 23, at St. Peter's Church, Kingston.

The Rev. John A. Steltz, pastor of the Church of St. Anthony of Padua, the Bronx, an uncle of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The couple received the Papal Blessing. Miss Nan Goldrick, organist, accompanied Richard Scherer who sang traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown of Schiffle embroidered silk organza fashioned with a high neckline and long, fitted Elizabethian sleeves. Sculptured Venise lace insertion banding trimmed the sleeves and neckline and created a V-effect on the sheer Empire bodice. Hand-clipped scalloped lace encircled the waistline and bordered the A-line skirt and abbreviated sweep train. Her cathedral length mantilla, edged with matching lace was shirred to a Camelot cap. She carried a colonial bouquet of white sweetheart roses and gypsophilia.

Jana Marie Torrisi of Kingston was maid of honor for her sister. Attendants were Lori Ganss of Hurley; Sue Weir of Tillson; and Chris Betkowski of Kingston. For her bridal party, the bride selected gowns styled with violet chiffon bodices posed over skirts of embossed print organza in tones of orchid, blue and green. They wore bow headpieces and carried bouquets of marguerities, pompons and gypsophilia.

Bart Godby of Kingston was best man. Ushering were Joe Nagy, Kenny Kouhoupt, and Frank Gromoll, all of Kingston.

A reception was given at Holiday Inn.

The bride, a 1971 graduate of Kingston High School, is employed at Rondout Savings Bank.

Her husband, a 1972 alumnus of KHS, is employed at Hudson Cement Company.

When they return from their wedding trip to Wildwood, N. J., they will reside at 34 Crane Street in Kingston.

October Color Attracts Tourists

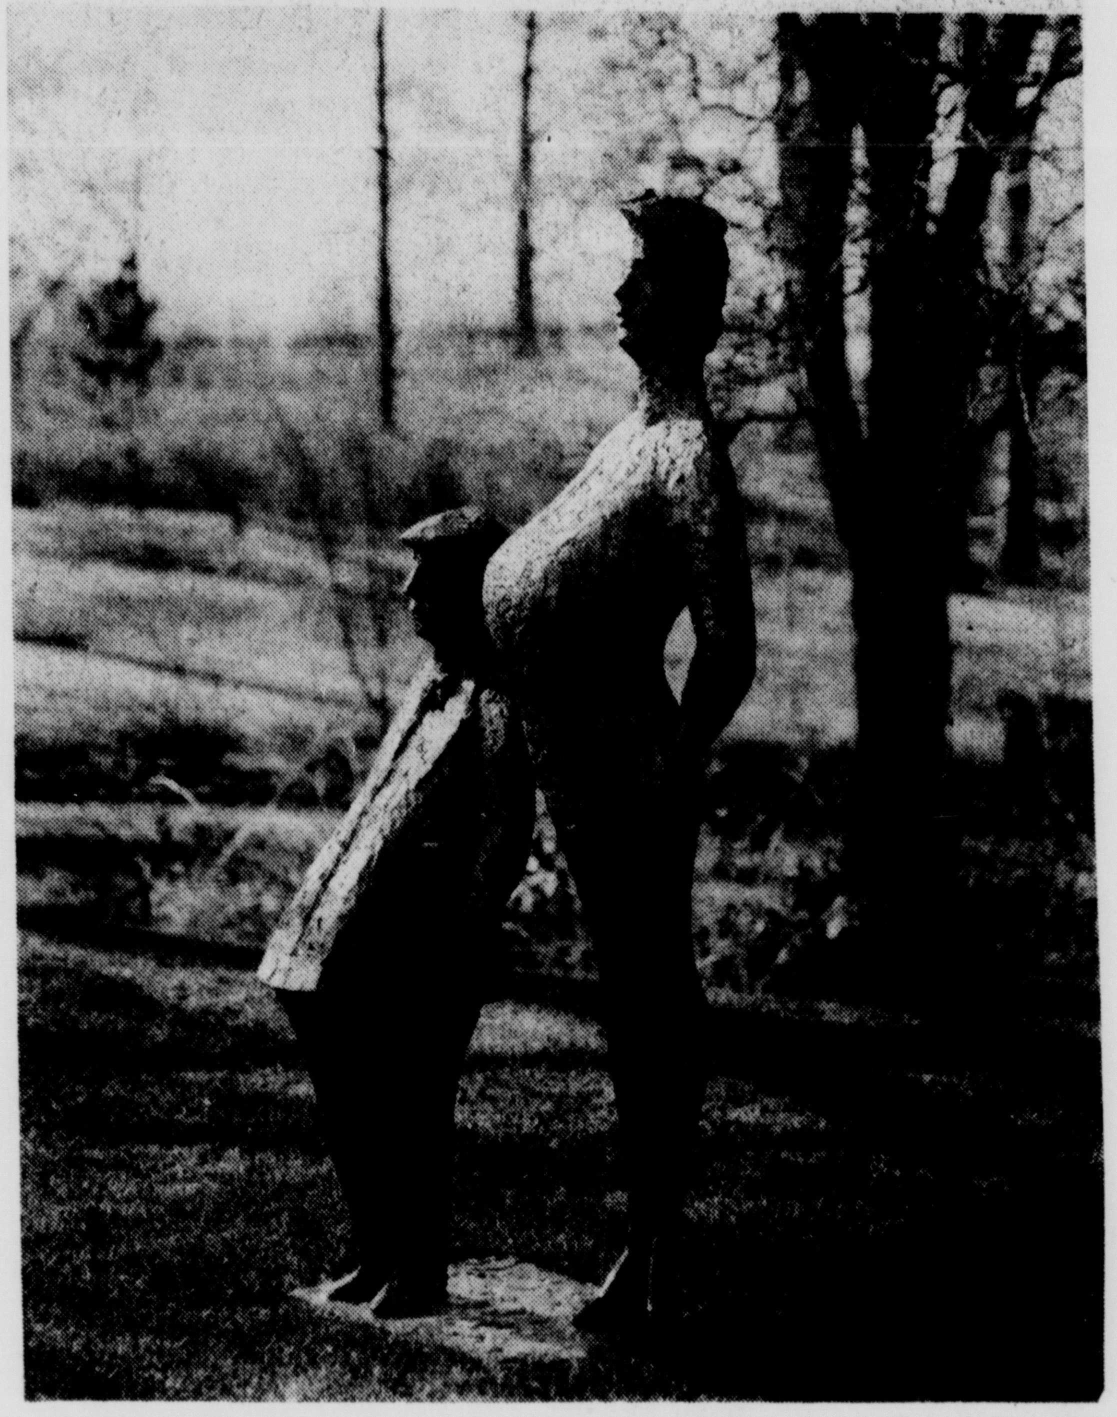
Tourists who have been wondering if the long rainy season will affect the brilliance of the Empire State's fall foliage can stop worrying, says the New York State Department of Commerce. In fact, the fall show is even better than usual.

Robert Titus, assistant director of the Planting Fields Arboretum maintained by the Long Island State Park Commission in Oyster Bay, points out that the trees and bushes are vigorous and lush from the rains. There are more and larger leaves to color the fall landscape with reds, oranges and yellows.

That color is blossoming out in all its glory is evident from the patio of Jarvis Gallery at 2 Broadview Road in Woodstock where an outdoor and indoor exhibit may be viewed by the public at no charge.

The Gallery is nestled in the center of nature's most beautifully painted landscaping making it doubly enjoyable to view the works of art from and Avent Collection.

All of it adds up to a spectacular show in living color that is well worth seeing and this season thousands are again expected to pour into the area.



THE TOURISTS—The well known Joan and Leser Avnet Collection includes this 66-inch high sculpture very aptly dubbed "The Tourists." The bronze creation of the portly, almost stoic wife and her weary husband is now on exhibit at Jarvis Gallery, 2 Broadview Road in Woodstock. I₁ is one of several sculptures now on display at the Gallery-Museum. The October colors surrounding the Gallery these days make it doubly enjoyable to view the outdoor exhibit. The Gallery is open every day except Wednesdays from 1-6 p.m. Admission is free. (UHT PHOTO)

He Needs Listener for Problems

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please keep my name off this. If my mother knew I wrote it she would kill me.

First, my mom has been in the nut ward four times. (She used to take all kinds of pills.) She can't get along with anybody. She knows everything and is never wrong. Everybody else is. She doesn't talk — she hollers! She is always picking on me, and when I complain to my father, he says, "You know your mother is off her rocker, so don't expect her to act normal."

When I ask him why we don't just send her away somewhere, he says, "Because she will get well faster at home, and if you don't try to get along with her, we will send YOU away!" Is that fair? I am 15 and have some rights, too.

My mom's been going to a psychiatrist three times a week for five months and I can't see one bit of improvement. It's costing my father a fortune. That's why he can't buy a car.

I guess maybe I just need someone to talk to. Maybe if I acted goofy enough they'd send ME to a shrink. It would sure be neat to pay someone to listen to me complain. Thanks, Abby, for letting me get this off my chest.

DOWN IN THE DUMPS

* * *

DEAR DOWN: Many a truth is spoken in jest. Maybe you do need someone to listen to you. If there's a counselling service at school take advantage of it. Or inquire about seeing someone at Family Service or your local Mental Health Clinic. Living with a disturbed person isn't easy, but if you learn more about your mother's illness you will be more compassionate and less hostile, which would help her, and you, too.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I do not drive a car, so I do a lot of walking. My problem is that I have been threatened, frightened, and nearly bitten by dogs. How does one defend himself against dogs without appearing ridiculous?

I can't always carry a cane. Besides I've been told that when a dog sees a cane, he knows it's a weapon and the carrier practically invites attack.

I know there are laws where I reside, stating that dogs must be on a leash, but nevertheless I see plenty of dogs loose and worse yet, they see me.

Please help me.

AFRAID OF DOGS

DEAR AFRAID: Will you take a tip from a veteran mail carrier who has picked many a bone with a dog? He says the government provides each mail carrier with a can of "spray," which is an animal repellent. Also, instead of a cane, carry a leather belt with a big knot in the buckle end, and if a dog attacks you, give it a good clout on the nose with the knot. Also never turn your back on a dog or run, for he'll surely attack you. Finally, if you are in doubt as to the dog's friendliness, check his tail. If it's stiff — reach for the spray!

* * *

Dear Abby: We live in an apartment, and the people next door have taken their stereo out on the patio and the racket is driving me up a wall. They have one of those twin speaker setups, and I hear rock and roll blasting away until I think the top of my head will fly off! I simply cannot understand how they can tolerate the sound level. They have GOT to be deaf!

I didn't have the courage to go over there and tell them personally to turn the music down, so I telephoned them, and would you beleive the phone rang a full ten minutes before they heard it! They did turn it down a bit, but the next evening it was blaring away again.

Don't tell me to report them to the manager. The people on the other side did that and got nowhere. And in case you think I'm an old fogey, I am 33 years old! Please help me.

LOSING MY MIND IN L.A.

DEAR LOSING: Go over there and TELL them they are disturbing your peace. And since the other neighbors are equally annoyed, how about getting up a petition? Present it to the manager. If that doesn't get results call the gendarmes.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: The Admiral of this installation was leaving for another assignment. His last day he came to each person to bid farewell. (I am a woman, employed here.) When the Admiral approached my desk I stood up to shake his hand.

Another women employee loudly criticized me for standing up for a man. Some employees took her side. Some took mine. I am interested in your opinion.

B

DEAR B.: It is proper for a woman to stand in greeting a man for whom she wishes to show respect for his age or position.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

(© 1972 Emily Post Institute, Inc.)

Dear Mrs. Post:

My daughter is being married at a formal wedding. She naturally wants her father to give her away and walk down the aisle with her. He keeps saying he isn't going to do it, but I am sure I can talk him into it. My daughter says he has to wear a morning suit. I know he will balk at that. The groom and ushers will either wear brown or black suits (Edwardian). In either case, my husband has handsome black and brown suits. Would it be in bad taste for him to wear either one of them, or should he get the morning suit to be correct?

MRS. H. T.

Dear Mrs. T:

The important thing is not what your husband wears, but that he escorts your daughter down the aisle.

Ordinarily, the bride's father wears the same outfit as the ushers. However, many older men would not want to wear a mod Edwardian tuxedo and so they would be dressed differently in any case. Therefore, if your husband prefers wearing a handsome suit of the same color, it will look perfectly fine.

Remember, a wedding should be a happy occasion for everyone, and if some compromises must be made, that is well worthwile to insure a pleasant atmosphere.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post:

I have been elected program chairman for my womans club's monthly meetings. I am about to write to the man who will be our speaker at the first meeting. Should I mention the length of time we would like him to speak, or is that up to him?

MS. SAUNDERS

Dear Ms. Saunders:

You should definitely tell him how long you would like him to speak. It is very helpful to him in planning his talk, and he will realize that his speech must be timed to fit in with the overall program. In your letter simply say that you are looking forward to "a twenty minute speech," "a half hour speech," or whatever you wish.

FIRST MEETING — Brian Taylor (14) of the Nets receives a pass in a drive down court as they meet the New York Knicks for an exhibition game in the New Haven Coliseum Thursday. No. 18 is Phil Jackson of the Knicks, who won, 117-88. (UPI)

Knicks Show Muscle

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The New York Knicks of the National Basketball Association are, at least at this time in history, a stronger professional basketball team than the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association.

That was proven Thursday night at the recently-opened New Haven Coliseum when the Knicks drubbed the Nets in the first meeting ever between the two teams, 117-88.

The cross-town rivalry drew the largest crowd ever to attend a basketball game in Connecticut, 9,809, but it also was probably one of the quietest. The pros criss-crossed the floor to little cheering, with the most obvious roars coming when the Knicks were introduced and when a referee made a call seriously questioned by the fans.

The Knicks' 56 per cent shooting performance from the floor and a tight defense, along with 25 points from Jerry Lucas, combined to overwhelm the Nets, who managed only 40 per cent in the field goal category.

The Knicks played without center Willis Reed, sidelined due to a training injury, and the Nets played without standout Rick Barry, whose basketball future is in doubt. Barry, who wasn't at the game, says he's going to do radio and television work, while owner Franklin Mieuli of the Golden State Warriors says Barry will play for his team.

Without Barry, the Nets fell behind early, soon after the Knicks employed a full-court press which led to several Nets turnovers and three straight baskets by Dave DeBusschere, who had 15 points before the night was over.

The game's high scorer was sophomore guard John Roche of the Nets who sank 18 points in the first half and eight in the third period and then went scoreless in the final stanza of play.

The Nets had three other players in double figures: John Baum, 12, rookie Jim Chones, 10, and Bill Paultz, 13.

In addition to Lucas and DeBusschere, four Knicks were in double figures: Bill Bradley, 22, Walt Frazier, 13, Phil Jackson, 14, and Earl Monroe, 11.

Each team had 14 rebounds.

UCCC Booters Edge Post

MORGAN HILL

"They're getting closer."

That was Coach George Vizvary's reaction to Ulster County Community College's 5-3 soccer victory Thursday over Post Junior College of Connecticut, the sixth straight for the undefeated Senators.

But really how close? Ulster's powerful combine again proved that it will give the opposition a little rope but when it gets too frisky, wham, comes the garrotte!

It happened to Dutchess Community Monday. It happened to Post Thursday at Oehler's Soccer Field.

Despite some errors on defense, Ulster dominated the first half to build up a 3-0 lead before the intermission. It looked like a cakewalk, despite Vizvary's admonition to his players that "we're making bad mistakes on defense and we're not shooting as well as we should."

Post came out of the dressing room and within seven minutes stunned Ulster with three goals to tie the score at 3-3. When was the last time UCCC yielded three goals in 6 minutes, 58 seconds? Nobody could recall.

Then it happened like it did against Dutchess earlier in the week, when Mike Romano flattened the threatening Falcons with two quickies. Twelve seconds after Post effected the 3-3 tie, Frank Goglia slammed through on an assist from Romano to put Ulster ahead 4-3. It gave you the impression that Ulster can almost call the scores when it is pressed.

Paul Morris connected for Post's first goal 1:39 into the second half after the shot first bounced off goalie Edgar Rodriguez's chest. Tony Megola hit at 2:26 after a roller got past Jimfy Green on defense and Fernandez accounted for the tying goal at 6:58.

Vizvary expressed dissatisfaction with Ulster's defense and particularly the play around the nets. He started Rodriguez instead of the higher rated Mark Charpentier, explaining, "We have two top goalies and I try to keep them busy." Whether Charpentier would have blocked two or the three Post goals remains a mute question.

A pair of goals by Byrdon Cordero, the first at 15:50 and second at 21:50 put UCCC ahead 2-0. Karl Hamilton assisted on the first, Aurelio DiMambro on the second. Gerry Lee-Hing, Ulster's top operator, converted a penalty kick at the 32-minute mark to make it 3-0.

Post came into Oehler's Stadium winless and left with an 0-4 record. The other three defeats were at the hands of Orange County—and two opponents Vivvary fears the most—Kingsborough and Westchester. Kingsborough is the next home opponent Saturday at 1 p.m.

"Kingsborough has a standout team," Vizary warned, "and we can't afford any letdowns against them. "They draw from some of the best talent in the New York City area. They shoot well, have a fine defense. You'd have to call them our first major opponent."

Kingsborough is coached by Nick Vlatter, a former professional and for many years a star with the New York Hungarians of the German-American Soccer Association.

The lineups:

Vida's Job Saved . . . For Now

OAKLAND (AP) — Vida Blue owes the Detroit Tigers a thank you.

By reaching the American League playoffs. which open here Saturday, they saved him from a certain one-week demotion to the Oakland A's bullpen. As it stands, Blue is only a tentative starter for the A's in the best-of-five series.

"I'd like to start," says Blue "but, you know, it's been that type of year. When you're hot, you're hot. When you're not, you're not." The 23-year-old left-hander was the hottest pitcher in baseball last year, finishing 24-8 in his first full big league season. This season, he pitched hot and cold after a late start caused by his contract holdout against A's Owner Charles O. Finley.

Blue's 6-10 record this year was the worst among A's starters. So was his 2.80 earned run average.

Manager Dick Williams plans to start Blue in the fourth game of the playoff, if necessary, in Detroit. But if the A's trail two games to one at that point, first-game starter Jim "Catfish" Hunter 21-7 may be used instead.

Williams had planned to use only three starters—leaving Blue in the bullpen—if the Boston Red Sox had beaten Detroit in the East.

Boston's Fenway Park, with its close left field fence, is a horror chamber for left-handed pitchers as Williams knows from managing the Red Sox three seasons.

Mickey Lolich, 22-14, edged by Blue in the American League's Cy Young Award voting last year, will be the Tigers' starter in Saturday's 4 p.m EDT playoff opener.

The Tigers arrived here Thursday afternoon. Both teams had the day off from practice and had workouts scheduled today.

"We've got all the material we need to win," said Tigers Manager Billy Martin, who has had scout Charlie Metro following the A's for several weeks.

The Tigers may have All-Star catcher Bill Freehan available for the playoffs. He broke a thumb Sept. 23 but has been returned to the roster for the postseason games.

The A's bullpen was hurt by the loss of southpaw reliever Darold Knowles also with a broken thumb, in the final week of the season, says Williams. Knowles was 5-1, with a 1.18 ERA.

The Detroit lineup Saturday will include many veterans of the 1968 world championship team. Lolich won three games in the World Series that year, and right fielder Al Kaline, the 37-yar-old hitting star of the Tigers' late-season title drive, batted .379 in the Series.

Oakland is getting another playoff chance, after being swept by the Baltimore Orioles in three straight games last year.

Willie's Slump Came Early

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Willie Stargell may be in his worst batting slump of the season but Manager Bill Virdon doesn't seem too concerned as the Pittsburgh Pirates head into the National League playoffs.

After hitting over a .300 clip for most of the year, Stargell saw his average drop 17 points to .293 in the final month of the season. He had only four hits in his last 44 at bats and his last homer, his 33rd of the season, came during the first week of September. He hasn't driven in a run since Sept. 14.

Despite Stargell's slump, Virdon says the Pirates have enough muscle at the plate to make it through the best-of-five series against Cincinnati starting Saturday at Three Rivers Stadium.

"I feel like we have enough hitting so even if Willie doesn't hit I feel we'll be okay," Virdon said. "But he could make it easy for you if he hits like he can."

Stargell, last year's home run champ, admits he's a streak hitter and says he never gets too upset about his hitting problems. When he falls into a slump, he says he just waits it out.

While Stargell's making no excuses about his slump, others are. Stargell, who finished third in the National League in RBIs with 112, is a clutch hitter and there just wasn't any pressure on the Pirates during the final month of the season.

That may be one reason why Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson appears so concerned

"I respect Stargell too much to think that the slump will have any effect," Anderson said. "This man is awesome ...tremendous."

Virdon plans to start Steve Blass, 19-8, against the Reds' Don Gullet, 9-10 in the opener.

Another Job For Lane

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)— Frank Lane, baseball's legendary trader whose career spans more than half a century, was removed Thursday as director of baseball operations for the Milwaukee Brewers and given another assignment.

The 73-year-old Lane, who joined the Brewers two years ago, will remain with the team as a special assignments scout and vice president with the emphasis on major league players and an announced assignment of paving the way for trades that could make the floundering Brewers contenders.

"I think this is a step forward," said Lane, whose abilities many times before made pennant contenders of also-rans. "This is going to free me to do more things that I hope can help this organization.

"It will let me get out on the road, which is where the hell I should go—not having to worry about the office."

Lane was replaced by Jim Wilson, the Brewers' scouting director who, in his 12 years as a major league pitcher once drew fans to Milwaukee County Stadium as a star for the Milwaukee Braves. He pitched a no-hittr in 1954 against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Brewers Manager Del Crandall was Wilson's batterymate at the time.

"The first thing I thought about," Wilson said, "is how does one go about trying to replace a legend? Frank Lane is just that—he's a legend. I don't think anybody in the game has the knowledge he does."

The shifts were part of a front office shakeup announced by Brewers President Allan H. "Bud" Selig.

Selig said Jim Baumer, the Brewers' top scout, would replace Wilson as director of scouting and former major league pitcher Al Widmar would become director of player development and instruction.

Tommy Ferguson, already a vice president, was given added duties in the field of player relations, scheduling and spring training; Bob Quinn was named director of business operations for the minor league system and Tony Siegle was named as administrative assistant to Wilson.

All had been in the Brewers' organization.

Selig said the restructuring was "in no way a criticism of Frank Lane or a minimizing of the outstanding work he has done for the club over the past two years."

He said Lane had made tremendous contributions in salvaging what had been a chaotic situation. "No man ever stepped into a more intolerable-. . . distressing situation." Selig said.

"I feel we have made genuine progress," he said. "It's not all visible on the field, but that's part of the frustrations and heartbreaks of this business. We're well ahead of any reasonable timetable we could have set three years ago."

David Graham Up by 4 Strokes

INZAIMACHI, Japan (UPI)— Australian World Cup player David Graham fired his second straight four under par 67 today in a driving rain for a four stroke lead in the second round of the world's richest golf tournament.

Graham chipped in a seven-foot shot with a seven iron for a birdie on the sixth and sank birdie putts of 15 feet on the eighth, six feet on the ninth and 10 feet on the 17th, as he parred all other holes on the 7,166-yard, par 71 Sobu Country Club course here in the $300,000 Taiheyo Club Masters Tournament.

In second place with four under par 138s were Gay Brewer and Homero Blancas. Brewer, who was tied with Graham and Al Geiberger for second place, a stroke behind Phil Rodgers in the first round, was seven under par as he birdied the 10th hole.

But Brewer bogeyed the sixth, 16th and 17th holes for a par 71. Blancas, who shot a 71 Thursday, equalled Graham's best round of the day by firing a 35-32—67.

The day-long heavy rain and strong winds played havoc with most of the players and only six of the 84 competitors were able to turn under par scores.

Rodgers shot a three over par 37-37—74 and dropped into a fourth place tie with Graham Marsh of Australia, Dale Douglass of the United States, and Japan's Takashi Murakami with two under par 140s.

Lee Trevino, who shot a 71 Thursday, although he arrived late Wednesday night after an 18-hour plane fight, shot another 71 for a 142 total. He bogeyed the seventh hole for a one over par 36 on the front nine and birdied the 10th and 14th holes, but bogeyed the 13th for a one under par 35 on the back nine.

Trevino was irked by Japanese reporters who asked him about his prediction Thursday that he would improve his par score without practice in the first round by four or five strokes today.

"I think this question should not have been asked because of today's weather conditions," Trevino said. "Everybody was in the same situation, so I am not complaining. I am only disturbed by my score."

Trevino pointed out that Thailand's Sukree Oncham, who played with him both days, had fired a 72 Thursday but had an 82 today.

Geiberger soared to a four over par 38-37—75 for an even par 142 total, as did George Archer, who shot a three over par 74 after his three under par 68 Thursday.

"I think the rain bothered everybody today, but I was lucky I putted very well," Graham said. "I missed four greens but I made pars. I sank a 20-foot putt for par on the 14th hole where luckily my drive hit a tree and bounced back onto the fairway.

"I felt at home playing because I had three days of fine practice on the course," he added.

Graham won first place money of $30,000 in the Cleveland Open last July. Three weeks later, he lost to Lou Graham, who is also playing in the tournament here on the first sudden-death playoff hole. He won the Japan Airlines Tournament last year after a sixth playoff hole with Japan's long hitting Masashi Ozaki. In 1970 he won the Yomiuri International Open Tournament in Tokyo.

NFL Told: Do It, Or Else

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the National Football League doesn't voluntarily lift its home-game television blackouts, it faces the possibility that Congress might pass a law putting games on television when they are sold out.

"I'm hoping (NFL Commissioner Pete) Rozelle will think about this and come up with a voluntary plan," said Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., author of a bill to end local blackouts of sports contests that are sold out 48 hours before the event begins.

"Unless Mr. Rozelle comes up with an answer within a week," Pastore said, "this bill may go on as an amendment to another bill."

Although Rozelle told the Senate communications subcommittee he would consider voluntary action by the NFL, Pastore said he doubted the professional football league will do anything about it.

"I don't think Mr. Rozelle was serious when he said he would take it under advisement," Pastore said.

A three-day hearing on the bill ended Thursday with three TV networks, Sens. William B. Spong Jr., D-Va., and Alan Bible, D-Nev., endorsing the bill.

"Here in Washington it is virtually impossible to buy a ticket to a Redskins game at any time," Spong said in a prepared statement. "Yet the people of the greater Washington metropolitan area, including thousands of Virginians, are barred from seeing on television these games which are so important to them and to which they would buy tickets to see 'live' if they were afforded the opportunity.

"Professional football is adopting a selfish and unreasonable attitude. It may 'kill the goose that laid the golden egg' if it does not show more consideration for the people."

Roone Arledge, president of ABC Sports Inc., said "it is clearly in the public interest . . . to lift hometown blackouts of televised games in professinal football, basball, basketball and hockey."

Also calling for passage of the bill was Dean Burch, Federal Communications Commission Chairman.

Burch warned, however, that Congress must consider the implications of ending home game blackouts- "implications going to the health of the professional sports involved."

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said all sports are different and the subcommittee would be taking a "mistaken approach" if they take a blanket look at the four major sports.

Erving Must Play for Squires

NEW YORK (AP) — Julius Erving doesn't know what he will do about playing pro basketball.

"I haven't made a decision as to what I'll do," commented the former University of Massachusetts star after he learned the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Thursday had upheld a district court ruling that he could play only for the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association, pending a hearing next week.

The hearing was set for Friday, Oct. 13, one week from today.

Erving, who left college a year ago after his junior year, was a star rookie with the Squires last season. He jumped to the Atlanta Hawks of the National Basketball Association after the season about the same time that he was picked in the NBA draft by the Milwaukee Bucks.

"I don't really have any comment," said Bill Putnam, president of the Hawks, when told of the Court of Appeals ruling. "It's just another one of those battles."

The NBA Board of Governors ruled Erving belonged to Milwaukee and the Hawks were directed not to play him in any exhibition games.

Jabbar Arrested On Pot Charge

DENVER (UPI)—Milwaukee Bucks basketball players Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Lucius Allen were arrested early today along with two other men on suspicion of possessing marijuana and other drugs.

Police said Jabbar, Allen and the others were arrested shortly after 4 a.m. when officers stopped the car in which they were riding for a routine investigation.

The Bucks defeated the Denver Rockets 130-92 Thursday night in an exhibition basketball game.

Police said a quantity of marijuana and other "dangerout drugs" were found in the car.

Jabbar paced the Bucks in the Rockets game scoring 29 points and grabbing eight rebounds in only two quarters.

HOW MUCH DO YOU THINK A VOLVO COSTS?

Before you can estimate the cost of one of our Volvos, you should know how much car a Volvo is.

Standard equipment includes power disc brakes on all four wheels. And adjustable back supports on the fully-reclining bucket seats that are optional on one $7200 luxury car.

A Volvo has more front seat legroom than a Cadillac DeVille. More legroom in back than a Buick Electra. And a bigger trunk than a Lincoln Continental.

So you could spend a lot and get less car than a Volvo Or you could spend $3840* and get a Volvo from us.

*Suggested retail price P.O.E. for Volvo 144 including standard transmission, whitewall radials, tinted glass, electric rear window defroster, fuel injection, carpeting front and rear. And more.

Dolphins, Giants, Cowboys, Vikings Sunday Picks

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—There is only one team in the National Football League with a perfect record after three weeks of the 1972 regular season—the Miami Dolphins.

There are only two teams in the NFL with perfect losing records after three weeks—the New Orleans Saints and the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Chicago Bears are also winless, but they have a tie to blemish their otherwise perfect losing record.

With the rash of upsets in pro football the past two weeks, one might think that it was time for either the Saintts or the Eagles or the Bears to pull one off.

This doesn't appear to be the weekend, however. And it also looks as though the Dolphins will continue as the league's only unbeaten, untied team.

Now for a look at the games, and the latest Fearless Football Forecast, with hopes everybody can forget last week's performance was 6-6-1 for the second consecutive week—putting the record at 22-15-2 for .595.

Miami 28, New York Jets 20. It may be the week for the Dolphins to fall, but with Bob Griese and Co. spearheading Miami's offense and a porous Jet pass defense, don't count on it.

Dallas 31, Pittsburgh 27. This was supposed to be the weekend that the Cowboys fell. Somebody didn't tell the Packers, however. Therefore, Dallas will probably be vengeful this Sunday and Terry Bradshaw won't be able to save the day for the Steelers.

Atlanta 31, Detroit 30—Now we'll see if the Falcons are really as good as The Dutchman says. But this one could go either way, particularly if Greg Landry and the Lions start to roar.

Cincinnati 21, Denver 17—The Bengals won't lose two consecutive games this year if Paul Brown has to play himself. The Broncos are improving rapidly, but not rapidly enough to win this one.

Kansas City 35, Cleveland 14—The Chiefs have been lethargic for three games. The Browns will be up after beating the Bengals last Sunday. But Kansas City will overcome.

San Francisco 24, Los Angeles 17—At the beginning of the season, it figured that the home team would win in each of the two meetings between these National Football Conference West powers. Now, with the Rams' having injuries and other problems, the 49ers should also at home later in the campaign.

New England 24, Buffalo 14—Things are looking up for the Patriots and Jim Plunkett. At least for this week. The two last-minute victories still have New England flying high. The Patriots shouldn't have to worry about the final minute this time. But wouldn't it be something if the Bills and O.J. Simpson . . . It couldn't happen. Or could it?

Washington 35, Philadelphia 21—And in the it-couldn't-happen department, it won't happen to the Redskins this week. But George Allen is an odds-on pick to go for a tie again if it ever does.

San Diego 31, Baltimore 27—This week's upset special. The Chargers are going places. The Colts were supposed to go places. But San Diego—with John Hadl, Deacon Jones and the rest—have found the way. Johnny Unitas and the Colts seemed to have misplaced their map.

Green Bay 24, Chicago 17—This is the oldest established rivalry in pro football. The Packers have won 10 of the last 12 meetings and with John Brockington lugging the ball it will be 11 of 13 on Sunday, Dick Butkus of the Bears notwithstanding.

Minnesota 31, St. Louis 17—The Vikings could have been 3-0. Instead, Minnesota's record is 1-2, the same as the Cardinals. This should be the game that Fran Tarkenton comes through for Minnesota. But St. Louis' Gary Cuozzo has plenty of incentive to defeat his old teammates. Incentive, however, won't be enough.

New York Giants 28, New Orleans 7—It's been a wacky three weeks in pro football, but not wacky enough for the Saints to join the ranks of the upset-makers. If you think the Giants have problems, you ain't seen nuttin'. Look for some changes down in the land of the bayous if the Saints don't win before long.

Oakland 35, Houston 31—This could be the spot for an upset. The Chargers have had their problems. The Oilers pulled off a big upset by beating the Jets. But the guess is that Daryle Lamonica will have his passing arm cranked up and the Monday night television audience will be in for quite a show. Houston's Dan Pastorini has a dandy passing arm, too.

Shaky Hoople Likes Newburgh, Onteora

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Wizard of Odds

HOOPLE MANOR

The Old Boy Himself

Egad, friends, you are gong to enjoy the pigskn proceedings — heh-heh — scheduled for this week.

Traditional rivalries abound with such classics as Newburgh-Kingston and Highland-Onteora, among others. When old foes such as these meet, the record book goes out the window – kaff-kaff — and picking the winners is a perilous business. But undaunted, as usual, your perspicascious prognosticator welcomes the oportuntiy to predict the results of these frays — um-kumph!

My high school record to date, I'm sad to report, is a mere .500 (8-8-2), but that should straighten out with this week's choices. On the college level, by the way, I'm batting .743 — har-rumph!

So it's on to this week's forecast:

NEWBURGH 12, KINGSTON 8

It's been a long time since I picked Kingston to drop one, but the time has come. I'm not really swayed as much by the Maroons two defeats . . . . although they are hard to ignore . . . . as I am by a statistic. Now statistics don't always impress me, but I read where Newburgh gained over 200 yards rushing against Vestal. That seems to tell me that the Goldbacks are a lot better than they've led people to believe. And Newburgh isn't the type of team to fall down after losing a 35-0 game. Kingston is not beyond winning this one, but the hunch here is Newburgh.

BEACON 18, SAUGERTIES 6

The Bulldogs will take some of the fun out of Saugerties, home opener by overpowering the Sawyers. I'm afraid Saugerties reached its peak very early this season.

ONTEORA 14, HIGHLAND 6

The suddenly impressive Onteora eleven should be able to get a few points on the board against Highland's tough defense. The Highlanders, meanwhile, stil haven't displayed much offense of their own.

RED HOOK 24, NEW PALTZ 6

It's definitely not New Paltz' year (although there's no doubt in my mind that this is the week the Hugies finally score). Red Hook might have had a letdown in this game if it were not for the tie it played with Onteora last week. Now the Raiders will be out for blood and unfortunately, the Hugies' defense appears hemophilic.

RONDOUT 2, MARLBORO 0

You read it here first! Marlboro, now injury plagued, will not only suffer its first defeat, but it will also be held scoreless by the Ganders, who have yielded just six points in three games. As for Rondout's points . . . a safety will do it. Their offense hasn't been able to generate much else.

ELLENVILLE 14, WALLKILL 6

Now that I've finally switched my allegiance from Wallkill, the Panthers will probably come up with something. But seriously, I'm not worried. Ellenville is going to be in the UCAL pennant race right down to the end of the season.

LIBERTY 28, PINE BUSH 14

I can't believe Liberty is going to go winless. The Indians just have too much power. This is their week to go on the warpath.

As for college football, most of this week's battles will go according to form; however, we foresee one mild upset in the offing when the Auburn Tigers edge host Mississippi, 24-22, harrumph!

In other games it will be : Army 26, Lehigh 7; Brown 18, Penn 15; Ohio State 22, California 14; Cornell 27, Rutgers 16; Florida State 33, Florida 23; Georgia Tech 39, Clemson 16; Alabama 27, Georgia 10; Harvard 28, Boston U., 6; Dartmouth 17, Holy Cross 14; Penn State 35, Illinois 16; Purdue 26, Iowa 21; Colorado 46, Kansas State 8.

Also, Tennessee 42, Memphis State 10; Notre Dame 28, Michigan State 20; Michigan 36, Navy 8; Princeton 17, Columbia 16; Southern Cal. 36, Stanford 28; Indiana 24, Syracuse 12; UCLA 42, Arizona 14; Washington 34, Oregon 7; and Yale 23, Colgate 18, boola-boola!

They're Playing Games With Upstate OTBA

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (UPI)—The war of the switching races continued unabated Thursday night as Saratoga Harness once again altered its racing card to upset Schenectady's off-track betting on Saratoga's daily double.

The latest ploy, really a repeat of one used Wednesday night, saw the track management switch what had originally been listed publicly as the fourth race to the first race and make that part of the daily double.

The horses on the card for the first race raced in the actual fourth race of the night.

On Wednesday, the first night Schenectady's off-track betting parlor had set up its own pool on the Saratoga double, the track changed the original third race to the second race and the publicly listed second race became the third race.

Schenectady OTB officials promptly countered by paying off on a daily double based on the results of the actually run first and third races. That double, F—E, Long Horn and Lady Sundet, paid $147, while Saratoga's double, 6-1, Long Horn and Panther's Flight, paid $83.40.

Thursday night, the track's double of 1-1, Vo Vim and Thorpe R., paid $56.20. The OTB double, B—A, Mountain Adios and Thorpe R., returned $40.60.

Saratoga officials charged the payoffs were illegal because all daily double wagering, they said, must be on the first two races.

Kent L. Brown, commissioner of the State Off-Track Betting Commission, said that was not the case and that the law required that the bettor must select the winneres of two races specified for daily double wagering.

"If they switch again and make the first race the eighth race, then Schenectady will pay off on the eighth race and the second race as its daily double. They can pay off on any combination," Brown said.

Meanwhile, some wag suggested that the newest double selection might be in trying to determine what publicly listed races the Saratoga management would make first and second on the actual starting board.

Statesmen Lose, 3-1

KINGTON

St. Patrick's of Catskill handed Coleman High its fourth soccer loss in five outings Thursday when it beat the Statesmen, 3-1.

Carl Beger, Ted Burn, and Al Rnjan were the marksmen for the Emerald Knights, who scored once in the first, second, and fourth periods.

Ron Weber put the ball in for Coleman on a pass from A. J. Meneen at 9:00 of the first frame. That goal momentarily tied the contest, but Burn's second period tally put St. Pat's ahead to stay.

Coleman outshot the visitors, 17-15. Both goalies made 12 stops.

The Statesmen have now lost to New York Military Academy, Fallsburgh, St. Pat's and Storm King. Their only victory was against New Paltz.

Coleman's next start is Tuesday at home against Fallsburgh.

NHL Opens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Hockey League facing a challenge from a rival league for the first time and minus several outstanding players, begins its 55th season Saturday night with two new teams and a group of fledgling coaches.

The NHL, a compact six-team unit until doubling in size at the start of the 1967-68 season, now has 16 clubs—and faces opposition from the infant 12-team World Hockey Association, which begins play next Wednesday .

With the thinning of talent because of an expansion draft to stock the two new clubs—the New York Islanders and the Atlanta Flames—and the loss of more than 50 players to the WHA, the NHL faces one of its most critical seasons in history. Nevertheless, the NHL already has awarded franchises to Washington and Kansas City for the 1974-75 season.

The Boston Bruins, defending Stanley Cup champions, were the biggest losers in the battle for talent.

Goalie Gerry Cheevers, forwards Derek Sanderson and John McKenzie and defensemen Ted Green and Ron Plumb all left Boston for the WHA. The Bruins also lost penalty-killer Ed Westfall to the Islanders and goalie Dan Bouchard to the Flames.

Still, the Bruins have center Phil Esposito the league's leading goal scorer the past two seasons including a record 76 in the 1970-71 campaign, and Bobby Orr, winner of the James Norris Memorial Trophy for the past five years as the league's outstanding defenseman. However, Orr had his fourth knee operation last June and has been slow recovering.

Chicago, defending West Division champion, also felt the sting of the WHA, losing superstar Bobby Hull to the new league. Among the other top NHL performers to jump leagues were Montreal defenseman J.C. Tremblay and Toronto goalie Bernie Parent.

Saturday night's opening games include Minnesota at Montreal, Chicago at Toronto, the Rangers at Detroit, Atlanta at the Islanders, California at Vancouver, Philadelphia at St. Louis, and Los Angeles at Pittsburgh.

Ponies at The Holiday Inn

KINGSTON

Eastern New York Pony of the America Chapter plans what is billed as a Superstar Futurity Saturday at 5 p.m. in the ballroom of the Holiday Inn.

Entries in the Superstar must have outstanding credentials. The only foals eligible are the first and second place winners of the five clubs and chapters of the Great Northeast, representing those picked from original nominations of more than 100 mares.

The top colt and filly will receive silver tea services, entry into the 1972 International Sale and a cash purse. The three judges represent a wide area of horsedom — Howard Victor (POA breeder), from Iowa; Press Keeler, Appaloosa judge, and Bill Bohl (Arabian handler).

Eastern New York POA Chapter is happy to represent other Great Northeast clubs — Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Western New York and Yankee POA — in this first Superstar Futurity. These five clubs include breeders from Maine to Maryland.

The Futurity concludes with a banquet and dancing.

Legislature May Aid 'Meals' Program

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

"Meals on Wheels," which recently announced that it is in financial trouble, may be bailed out by the Ulster County Legislature next week.

The program, which provides hot meals for the elderly, is in financial trouble, according to Malinda Davis, Ulster County Senior Citizens Coordinator, who recently appealed to the Legislature for $2,900 for the balance of 1972 and $11,000 for 1973. The program has been providing hot meals for 91 senior citizens at the Rondout Neighborhood Center and the YWCA, including delivery to shut-ins.

In a resolution to come before the Ulster County Legislature, Raymond Armater (R-City), chairman of the county's Program for the Aging Committee, asks that $2,917 be transferred from the county's contingency fund to the Community Action Administration which conducts the Senior Citizens Nutrition Program.

Armater asks that the money be appropriated to Community Action because his committee feels that the continuation of the program "is essential to the well being of the elderly . . ."

Meanwhile, Community Action reveals that Meals on Wheels "is about ready to roll" in Ulster County with the securing of central kitchen facilities in Kingston.

All that remains for the program to be launched is the Legislature's approval of the additional funding.

The program is expected to service about 160 persons in Ellenville, Kingston and Saugerties. In Ellenville, there is a growing list of shut-ins who have signed up for home delivery of the hot meal. Others will be served the noon meal in the basement of the Hunt Memorial Building, Liberty Square. The latter facility is being given by the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. Davis indicated that while $46,676 had been granted the local senior citizens program through the state, local support is needed to continue the hot meal program.

Rhinebeck Park Area
...Progress Reported

RHINEBECK

Suggested several months ago in an exchange of opinions, a plan to bring a village green-park area to the central area of the Village of Rhinebeck has progressed past the pure talking stage.

This green belt would be between the Beekman Arms Hotel and the post office, according to a plan proposed by Charles LaForge, proprietor of the Arms.

This necissitates approval of a changed access road for the post office by the Army Corps of Engineers because of a federal government right of way on the present driveway. Access would then be made possible off West Market Street instead of Mill Street.

And another access road might be made available around the First National Bank of Rhinebeck's southernmost side, as an addition is being built on the northerly side.

This concept is not original with LaForge, as the master plan for zoning for the village recommended it several years ago. Some village residents have been behind any proposal to put a mini-park in the business district, as the only park in the village is the American Legion Park two blocks to the south of Route 9.

In making reference to such a park the master plan stated: "it is proposed to close the driveway that goes between these two structures and make the areas which are now divided in two into one. In addition to providng more ample green area in the center of the village, this action will, it is hoped, cure the unfortunate situation which now exists between these two structures caused by trucks serving the Beekman Arms or persons parking cars in connection with visits to the post office in the passage way and nearly blocking it."

Wawarsing Barn
...Protest Recorded

By WADE BURKHART

WAWARSING

Protest was heard against the recent referendum on the $100,000 bond issue for a new town highway barn at the Wawarsing Town Board meeting Thursday night.

The refrendum was held Sept. 26, and the bond issue passed 265-92. An additional $60,000 is available in a capital reserves. A fund for the 70 x 100-foot structure.

Jerome Z. Elkin, a former Wawarsing councilman, asked the board to hold another referendum, questioning the "fairness and legality" of the Sept. 26 referendum.

Elkin said the referendum was unfair in being held only at the old town barn in Ellenville. The former councilman said it should have been held in at least half the polling places in the township, to enable people to vote more conveniently. He thought the low voter turn out indicated that people from outlying districts were not able, or did not take the trouble, to vote on the bond issue.

He also said misinformation caused some people not to register before the vote, believing all resident property owners were eligible.

Elkin questioned the legality of the election, saying his ballot had a number on it which was legible despite an attempt to obliterate it with a "felt-tipped pen". He also said one booth did not have a curtain on it, and a long line of highway department employees seated at the polling place might have influenced the vote.

Similar sentiments were voiced from the floor, and Mrs. Louis Kobrinner wrote a letter read at the meeting which said she had been "disenfranchised" by the registration misinformation.

Supervisor Frank Harkin said he regretted the misinformation, and said he would have liked to have had more time between the advertisement and the vote to get more and better publicity out to the people.

Councilman Frank Sahler said the low vote was the result of lack of public interest, not inconvenience and the vote was held early to get construction started. Several councilmen said holding the vote at the old town barn was done to show people what the town was working with at present, and to save money by the centralized polling place.

Town Attorney Robert Stapleton said the referendum was legal as it was held.

Elkin wanted a new referendum held in conjunction with the November election. The board said they would not do it. Elkin said he was not "threatening", but indicated he might have legal action instituted to hold a new referendum.

The board said it would advertise for bids on the barn as soon as it could legally.

According to an ordinance passed by the board, it will be illegal to park on the township's roads from 2 a.m. to 6 a.m. from Nov. 15 to March 31. The ban on overnight parking is to facilitate snow plowing.

A Halloween curfew was set at 10 a.m. or whatever hour the Village of Ellenville sets. The Ulster County Sheriff's Department and the 11-Meter Club are to be contacted to combat the vandalism the town often has on Halloween, particularly in the Napanoch area. Harkin said "it's started already."

Joseph Demski was appointed chairman of the town Environmental Conservation Commission.

Dutchess BOCES Certified

POUGHKEEPSIE

The Dutchess County BOCES has been certified by the State of New York as one of the first official automotive vehicle inspection stations in a BOCES operation, according to Dr. Donald F. Rielle, district superintendent.

The expansion of the automotive curriculum is to include actual motor vehicle inspections to further enrich practical experience of the students.

Those enrolled in the second year of their training will receive additional training to qualify them to take the licensing examinations for automotives inspectors at the completion of their porgram.

John Fiore, curriculum-placement coordinator who arranged for the introduction of the new phase, feels it will be an asset to the graduates, the automotive industry, local employers, and to the general public.

The BOCES program is not designed to inspect large numbers of vehicles. Therefore, the general public will not be eligible to have its cars inspected through the program. The experience will be received through bona fide inspections of each other's vehicle and others in the BOCES program.

Kahane Out on Bail... Can't Leave Israel

TEL AVIV (UPI)—A judge released Rabbi Meir Kahane, head of the Jewish Defense League (JDL), from jail on $9,500 bail today but barred him from leaving Israel so long as he is suspected of trying to ship weapons abroad for anti-Arab terror attacks.

"Counterterrorism against the Arabs is necessary," Kahane told reporters after the court session. "It's about time a counterterror group was set up... it's about time somebody started worrying about Jews of the world who are targets because of Israel."

As yet, no charges have been filed against Kahane, who was arrested last Sunday. An investigation is being conducted however, into his alleged involvement in last month's attempt to smuggle grenades, submachine guns and rifles to Europe for attacks against Arab guerrillas.

Police asked that Kahane be freed on bail instead of requesting the court's permission to hold him in custody any longer. They told the court he is suspected of organizing the thwarted smuggling attempt.

Magistrate Nehemia Ber ordered Kahane to surrender his passport despite a plea by defense attorney Gershon Holtzer that the rabbi had to leave for the United States to conduct a college lecture tour.

In his talk with newsmen, Kahane denied that he intended to seek the Mafia's help against the guerrillas. A newspaper had quoted him as saying that was the purpose of his planned trip to New York.

Film Festival Is Planned

HIGH FALLS

So successful and entertaining was the first effort at unreeling the great movie classics of the past in the High Falls area that other such endeavor is un-another such endeavor is underway.

The High Falls Film Festival of Hollywood's early movies — many acclaimed for their artistic greatness; others for their nostalgia — begins this Saturday, Oct. 7 at 8 p.m. in the High Falls Firehouse.

First film slated in the series Charlie Chaplin's "The Gold Rush," and a 25 cents donation is all that is required for admission to this hilarious comedy.

The Film Festival is being presented by the High Falls Civic Association, and the films to be shown this season are from the collection of local television writer, Romeo Muller.

Rolison, Assemblyman Emeel Betros, District Attorney Albert M. Rosenblatt, Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan, Judge George Bernhardt, and County Clerk Jack Hautmann are expected to attend.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Herman H. Tietjen and Mrs. William R. Allen. Donations are $2.50 per person and reservations may be made.

The Rhinebeck Women's Republican Club president, Mrs. Carolyn Buchanan has urged those not regsitered to do so, and has asked that those needing a ride or assistance of any type should not hesitate to call her or Sari Tietjen in Rhinebeck.

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN GAS RATE SCHEDULE

On September 29, 1972 Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation filed with the Public Service Commission of the State of New York revisions to its gas rate schedule, P.S.C. No. 11—Gas, to become effective October 30, 1972. The revisions, made in accordance with the Commission's Order issued on August 21, 1972 in Case 10866, modify the terms and conditions under which Central Hudson will install and extend its gas mains.

The method of determining the maximum length of the main extension in excess of one hundred feet per customer that Central Hudson will provide without charge is revised to provide that if forty per cent of the cost of the gas main is less than the total adjusted gas revenue in each of two consecutive years the main will be extended at no charge. The adjusted gas revenue is defined as the revenue realized from the applicable Service Classification rates and charges less the minimum charge and the cost of gas included in those charges.

The surcharge for gas main footage in excess of the free limit has been modified to provide that the charge each year will be tweny per cent of the actual reasonable cost of that portion of the main extension in excess of the free limit reduced by fifty percent of the adjusted gas revenues per year received from the customers served by the extension.

The conditions under which a surcharge will terminate are revised to provide that whenever the number of customers on a main extension multiplied by 100 feet shall equal or exceed the length of the main extension, or whenever the total adjusted gas revenue in each of any two consecutive calendar years from all customers on the main extension shall exceed forty per cent of the actual reasonable cost of the main extension, or when ten years have elapsed since commencement of service from the main extension, all surcharges shall cease.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when employing the use of tact and diplomacy brings the results you wish. This may not be easy since unexpected difficulties are bound to arise to test your patience. Any surprise setbacks will be temporary and no threat to overall progress. A good sense of humor is important.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Resorting to temper where an associate is concerned would only make matters worse. Also, make sure you are not the one who is at fault. Express more confidence in what others are doing.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) An excellent day to express your views with friends, but be sure to avoid any arguments. Taking health treatments at this time can give you more vitality. Show that you have poise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are tempted to dash out for recreation instead of carrying through with promises you have made. Avoid those individuals who are unreliable. Home is your best bet tonight. Relax.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do nothing that will spoil the harmonius manner in which your home is running. Be sure to keep quiet if provoked. Take care of artistic and cultural matters early.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't be careless in motion today and you safeguard money and physical well being. You can run those errands but don't take any risks. Be sure to count your money when shopping.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You feel that by spending money lavishly you can alleviate anothers' feelings, but an honest admission of guilt would be better. Discuss with an expert how to add to present abundance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan how to make yourself more attractive and healthy. Forget the faults of those persons you like and think only of their good qualities. Buy the right clothing for your wardrobe.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may feel hemmed in today, so get out and go places, meet people who are interesting and have a good time. A little encouragement to a friend now can go a long way. Relax tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Being blunt with friends could lead to arguments now, so use tact instead. You need to build goodwill, not lessen it. personal goals are best worked out alone at this time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You know what your duties are of public or personal nature, so attend to them instead of going off on some tangent. Show that you are efficient. Avoid a higher-up who is irate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find a new method of handling the tasks ahead of you and get better results. Don't be pressured by a newcomer into doing something that would embarrass you. Use your will power.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) With all the tasks ahead of you, get busy and handle them instead of procrastinating any longer. Take good care of your health and make yourself more charming. Express happiness.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people who is constantly motivated to challenge others, even the closest ties. Teach early to have more faith in others and give the right religious training that will accomplish this. Any profession that has to do with music, art and culture is fine here. Sports are also important. Don't neglect ethical training.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to You!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

THREAT: (Q.) I met this other girl named Cindy. She told me about this party and I went with her. Well, at first we danced, talked and just had fun. As it got closer to 11, the girl giving the party said, "It's show time now."

Cindy told me that everyone would now act out what he or she wanted to be.

A girl got up and started taking off her clothes. I told Cindy that my mother said be home at 11:30 and I had to go. Cindy said in a loud voice that I thought I was too good to show my body.

I said. "That's not true. I want to be a doctor and doctors don't dare take their clothes off."

I got up and ran for the door. Two boys caught me and started pulling on my clothes. I kicked and bit but it just made more boys come help. I picked up a bottle, broke it, and started cutting one of the boys with it. They let me up.

My clothes were half off but they were all right to walk home in. I told my mother that a dog was after me.

A week later I was out with some friends and saw Cindy and two of the boys. One of the boys said he was going to rape me. Cindy just laughed. What should I do?—16 in Washington, D.C

(A.) You should have told your mother and father the truth. Tell them now. Tell them about the threat, too. And stay as far away from Cindy and her mob (that is what it is) as you can. If they bother you again, report them to the police.

BIG AND LITTLE: (Q.) I have a small bust and a pot belly. Sometimes I look pregnant. I am 14, and my sister, who is barely 11, has a bust bigger than mine. If you can help me, please do!—Big in the Wrong Place in Indiana.

(A.) If you can get your midsection down to normal for a 14 year old girl, your bust will look much better.

I am sending you a set of exercises, but it will take more than exercise. It will also take calorie watching, good posture and will power.

I suggest that you ask your doctor for a diet that will allow you to lose weight and also ask him to check your "pot" to see if your trouble is fat or possibly something else.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001)

WHY WE SAY

UP THE SPOUT

NOT REDEEMED: This old phrase for something that is gone and cannot be brought back started before the Civil War. Pawnshops had long chutes or spouts where they stored articles until redeemed. If the customer did not return within the time limit it was lost to him or permanently "up the spout."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

ABC Caution Justified

NEW YORK (AP) — Last week, an ABC spokesman expressed "cautious optimism" when his network ran a tight second to NBC in the ratings for the first week of the fall television season.

His caution may have been justified. In the second week of the season's national ratings, ABC dropped to a way-behind third place while third-ranked CBS, after vowing a strong comeback, came in first.

Only one ABC show, the long-running "Marcus Welby, M.D.," made the top 20 for the week of Sept. 18-24, according to A.C. Nielsen Co. ratings of programs shown in prime evening time for the period.

And "Welby" came in eighth this time, seen in an estimated 15.5 million households compared to the previous week when it ranked first and was seen in an estimated 20.2 million households.

The week's top-ranked show didn't shock rating-watchers. It was CBS' popular "All in the Family," which was seen in an estimated 20.7 million American households that week.

A comparison of the 20 top-rated programs for the two-week period shows that on the first go-around, NBC led the pack with nine shows, followed by ABC with six and CBS with five.

There was a dramatic turnaround in the top 20 list the following week. CBS posted 11 winning entries, NBC 8 and ABC 1.

Although many viewers won't believe it, network officials say it isn't until November that decisions are made on which shows will be kept, canceled or shifted to new time slots.

They say it usually takes until the latter part of October for national viewing patterns — and ratings — to take some kind of shape and meaning.

But the ratings for the first two weeks of the season indicate that viewers initially don't seem to be buying the promotional hoopla that accompanied the arrival of 20 new, regularly scheduled series.

During the first week, they watched in sufficient numbers to put only CBS' "Maude" and "Bridget Loves Bernie" in the top 20, along with NBC's "Wednesday Mystery Movie" and ABC's "Paul Lynde Show."

In the next week, the Lynde show plummeted from 14th place to 28th position. The rest moved up. "Bridget" went from sixth to third place, "Maude" from 11th to sixth and NBC's Wednesday whodunit from 20th to 17th in the standings.

The biggest second-week surprise dismayed NBC. Its "Bonanza," now in its 14th season on the range, was shot out of the saddle by the opposing "Maude" show and dropped from fourth to 39th place.

The second-week rating results boggle the mind. So does the idea that "Maude," a thrice-divorced, loudmouthed eastern battle-ax could take on the Cartwrights, most solid family in the West — and win.

Deep Finesse Does the Trick

By Oswald and James Jacoby

North's hand is weak for a limit jump raise since his queen of clubs is not likely to be worth much if it is worth anything. South has a clear-cut rebid to game.

West opens the queen of spades and South sees that in spite of the surprisingly poor dummy he has a diamond finesse for game.

If South is in a hurry he wins the spade in dummy, tries and loses the diamond finesse and winds up one trick short of his contract.

If South stops to analyze the lead and review the bidding he decides that West does not hold both ace and king of clubs since in that case he would probably open a club to have a look at dummy.

In that case could he have made a vulnerable overcall without the king of diamonds? Possibly, but not likely. Furthermore, East might well have raised clubs with short hearts, a high club and a side king.

Can East find some way to make his contract if West has the diamond king?

If he looks carefully he will find the chance. He can make it if East holds both the jack and 10.

Beggers can't be choosers.

South leads a diamond from dummy at trick two and plays his nine. This knocks out the king and South car discard dummy's small spade on the queen of diamonds.

Nixon on Mc Charges… 'Won't Dignify Comments'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has brushed aside Sen. George McGovern's charges that his administration is the most corrupt and deceitful in history.

In a voice so quiet that reporters 15 feet away couldn't hear his words, Nixon told a news conference in his Oval Office Thursday that "some of my partisan advisers feel I should respond in kind" to the escalating accusations of the Democratic nominee.

"I shall not do so; not now, not throughout this campaign," he said. "I am not going to dignify such comments."

Anyway, Nixon added, McGovern's assault will backfire because "responsible members of the Democratic party will be turned off by this kind of campaign."

Nixon, who described some of McGovern's proposals as "very disastrous for this nation," was asked about his own campaign plans. He has made only a handful of purely political trips since winning the Republican nomination. He replied:

"It is important for me to stay on the job here in Washington until the Congress adjourns and until that very great danger of a tax increase caused by congressional overspending is met and defeated."

He pledged that as far as he is concerned "there will be no tax increase in 1973—a trimmed-down version of a commitment made last month by White House aides who said there would be no tax increase in a second term.

"There could be a congressional tax increase," he told newsmen Thursday, if Congress continues "to pass bills that substantially exceed the budget."

The President is preparing to blister the Democratic-controlled Congress anew when he discusses tax policy in a 15-minute paid political broadcast on three national radio networks at noon on Saturday.

This will be the first in a series of radio addresses he plans on major issues, following the format he used extensively in his 1968 campaign.

The radio speeches will constitute his major campaign activity until Congress adjourns.

He is, however, planning once-a-week campaign swings—"on a day that I see no significant problems that I need to attend to here."

Nixon agreed he is far ahead of McGovern in the polls but voiced concern that the bulge could lull his supporters into complacency.

Another Blast at Administration

By United Press International

Sen. George S. McGovern concentrated his wide-ranging attack against President Nixon's administration today on minority voter registration while Nixon's campaign manager charged the Democratic nominee with escalating his "personal invective against the President."

In a statement prepared for delivery to a meeting of black ministers in Chicago, McGovern charged Republicans with reducing the number of black voters in 1968 and said they were doing the same with the Spanish community this year.

McGovern said that Republican sources contributed money to militant minority organizations four years ago. The groups, in return, "propagandized" local communities that it didn't matter whether people vote before "there wasn't a dime's worth of difference between the Democrats and Republicans."

He alleged that "it is happening again this year." Mcgovern said that in Chicago "I am told that Republican funds have been funneled to groups in the Spanish community for the purpose of reducing registration and voter turnout."

After his Chicago appearance, McGovern was scheduled to fly to Kansas City, Mo., tonight for a full day of campaigning capped by a speech at the Truman Day Award Dinner in St. Louis Saturday. Sen Thomas F. Eagleton, who was dropped as McGovern's running-mate more than two months ago, was expected to join him.

Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew made campaign stops in Council Bluffs, Iowa and Charleston, W.Va. Thursday. In West Virginia, Agnew announced support for controversial strip-mining.

"I don't think we should disband the idea of strip mining as long as we have safeguards to protect the environment," Agnew told Republican Gov. Arch Moore during a visit to an interstate highway construction site.

In other campaign developments:

—The Republican National Committee's monthly publication "First Monday" said today that a McGovern foreign policy "would be based on appeasement of Communist adventurism up to and including the overthrow of sovereign governments friendly to the United States."

—Nixon's youngest daughter, Julie Eisenhower, will make a campaign swing through New England this weekend, touring Connecticut, Vermont and New Hampshire. Trica Nixon Cox will campaign in California over the weekend with two major dinners in Los Angeles.

—American Party Presidential candidate John G. Schmitz said in Hartford, Conn., he would divert virtually all U.S. foreign aid into the space program.

—Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's communications director, said in Buffalo, N.Y. that McGovern was resorting to "desperate" tactics in his campaign.

DINNER ESCORT — Secretary of State William P. Rogers (R) escorts Chinese Vice Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-Hua from his apartment in New York to attend a "largely social" dinner party. The occasion marked the first time a high-ranking official of the People's Republic of China has been entertained by a U. S. government leader.

Rogers, Chiao Hold Meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-hua of China have had the first private meeting in the United States between high-ranking officials of the two nations.

"It went very well; it couldn't have been more pleasant," Rogers said Thursday night after Chiao left the dinner meeting at the secretary's home in one of New York's highest priced apartment buildings.

The two-hour and 15-minute session "was more social than substance." Rogers told reporters, indicating it was much more significant for having taken place than for what was discussed.

But when the two officials switched from the amiable chatting that went with the menu of American food and high-powered Chinese liquor, Rogers said the conversation dwelled on the continuing improvement in U.S.-Peking relations.

Rogers said he told Chiao that "all the understandings reached in China — during the Peking summit — have been carried out in a meticulous way by both sides" and "everything that has happened since has developed the way we hoped it would."

The only part of the talks that approached substance was a discussion of a wider opening of trade opportunities and increased travel by private citizens between China and the United States, Rogers said.

There was no mention of Vietnam or U.S. relations with the Chinese Nationalists on Taiwan, the secretary said in answer to a variety of questions.

Although Rogers said he hopes to see Chiao "many times in the future," he added there was no discussion of a future meeting and no invitation was extended to the Chinese official to visit Washington.

This was one of the few reminders following the meeting that relations between the mainland and Washington remain far from normal.

The Chinese have made it clear no Peking official will travel to Washington as long as the Nationalists maintain an embassy there.

Fighting Near Saigon, B52s in Capital Raids

SAIGON (UPI)—Major fighting flared today within 17 miles of Saigon and halted traffic on a key highway, military spokesmen said. U.S. B52 bombers struck areas around the South Vietnamese capital overnight in the heaviest raids in more than three years.

Military sources said the Communists had infiltrated several hamlets in the region around Ben Cat and along Highway 13 in the closest major battling to Saigon since the start of the Communist offensive March 30. Allied commanders have predicted the Communists will try to isolate Saigon in advance of the Nov. 7 U.S. presidential elections.

Clearing weather over North Vietnam Thursday enabled the U.S. command to order the heaviest air raids of the week above the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams. Command spokesmen said more than 300 bombing strikes were flown over the North, including night missions by F111 all-weather fighter-bombers.

An estimated 500 Communist troops were involved in the fighting along a 12-mile stretch of Highway 13 near the Ben Cat district (county) capital, military sources said. Spokesmen said 19 Communists were killed in one action six miles southeast of the town in Binh Duong Province with one government soldier reported wounded.

Military spokesmen said Air Force F4 Phantom crews escorting a flight of bombers intercepted Communist MIG21 jets and one of the North Vietnamese planes was shot down with an air-to-air missile. No U.S. planes were hit in the 60th MIG downing of the year and 171st of the war, the spokesmen said. But Hanoi Radio monitored in Saigon claimed three Phantoms and a Navy photo reconnaissane plane were shot down Thursday.

An Air Force F4 returning from a mission over North Vietnam today crashed from unknown causes over Laos, the U.S. command said. The two crewmen were rescued, one with a broken arm.

Command spokesmen said at least 42 B52 bombers dumped an estimated 1,260 tons of explosives on suspected Communist positions around Saigon late Thursday and today, rattling windows and doors in the capital in the heaviest strikes in the region since early 1969.

A U.S. Army OH6 light observation helicopter was shot down Thursday near Ben Cat, 27 miles north of Saigon, wounding one of the crewmen, U.S. military spokesmen said.

Military spokesmen said North Vietnamese troops stepped up their attacks near the capital and elsewhere in South Vietnam, launching 100 country-wide forays in the 24 hours ending a dawn today. There were 85 Communist attacks reported in the previous 24-hour period.

Official records showed the Stratofort raids were the heaviest along Saigon's outer perimeter since mid-1969. All but one of the B52 missions hit two traditional Communist staging areas—the Boi Loi Woods 35 miles northwest of Saigon and the Ho Bo Woods 25 miles northeast of the capital, command spokesmen said. The 13th three-plane strike was 27 miles east of Saigon at the edge of a rubber plantation used long ago as a jumping-off point for North Vietnamese troops moving on the capital.
